3. Allow your story to inform your _____ – v. 20

Discover Your Spiritual Gifts

MondayREAD: Mark 5:1-20REFLECT: In this passage, the demons residing in the man seemed to be immovable. When Jesus, a truly unstoppable force, came, they saw something they could not believe. The seemingly immovable object was moved by the unstoppable force of Jesus. When Jesus shows up in our lives, he moves these immovable objects out of the way.RESPOND: What areas in your life need to be moved out of the way? How can your story change for the better if you truly surrender to Him?Tuesday*READ: Romans 8:28REFLECT: Your story is carefully, intentionally, creatively, and purposefully written by our heavenly Father. Sometimes it seems the story is at a standstill, leaving us to wonder how it could possibly turn around. But this passage reminds us that God is always writing and working out His plans for our lives. Your story matters to Him!RESPOND: Do you need to drop the pen and let God write your story? How can you increase your faith in God as the ultimate author of your story?Wednesday*READ: 2 Corinthians 1:3-5REFLECT: God wants to use your story in the lives of others. He may allow events in your life to occur because He wants to use your story to encourage others. Because we have been comforted by Him in our difficult times, we can comfort others during their difficulties. Our stories can be a source of comfort for others.RESPOND: How can you encourage others with God's love and compassion? Ask God to help you be aware of opportunities to comfort others.Thursday*READ: 2 Corinthians 4:5-6REFLECT: Paul emphasized that Jesus was the focus of his preaching, not himself. In the same way, we must remember that our story is not about us. It is about God. He is the center of our story. In fact, all of "history" is His-Story. Because we live in history, our story is His-Story.RESPOND: How does your perspective change when you view your story as a small part of God's bigger story? How can you revolve your story around His story?Friday*READ: John 4:1-42REFLECT: The Samaritan woman at the well had a life-changing encounter with Jesus. Her story changed when she met Him. As a result, she was excited to tell others about Jesus and what He did for her. She couldn't be silent; she had to tell others.RESPOND: Is sharing your story a priority in your life? Ask God to increase your passion to share your story and help you be aware of the opportunities He lays before you.

PCC College Gatherings

Thursdays | 7pm

If you are 18-22 years old — whether you're a student or working full time or some combination of the two — PCC College will give you the opportunity to connect with other Christ-followers who are in a similar stage of life. You'll learn to grow in God's Word, serve the church and the community, and go lead others into full life in Christ.

Come hang out for worship, teaching, and small groups — all designed to help you build real community and deepen your faith.
