COURSES TAUGHT

The Lumen Center

Picturing the Good through Recent American Fiction (Spring 2025)

- Four-week, non-credit reading group designed to deepen participants’ faith formation through the study of American literature.
- Course topics: birth, death, and what makes for the good life—eudaimonia—in between. Authors: Saul Bellow, Flannery O’Connor, George Saunders, Tess Slesinger, David Foster Wallace, Tobias Wolfe.

United States Military Academy, Department of English and Philosophy

Introduction to Composition (4 sections, Fall 2015, Fall 2017, Fall 2018; 3 sections, Fall 2016)

- Designed and taught first-year writing seminars to classes of 12–18 students. Course themes centered on technology, media, identity, democracy, and leadership, with texts by Isaac Asimov, Henri Bergson, Don DeLillo, Michel Montaigne, George Orwell, and others.
- Designed and led a workshop on “Bridging the K–12 Gap” for new instructors (2017).

- Organized course-wide events, including a guest lecture by Sir Christopher Ricks (2015) and a performance of contemporary American monologues by Adam Driver's nonprofit Arts in the Armed Forces (2016) for audiences of approximately 1,300 cadets.

Introduction to Literature (3 sections, Spring 2016; 4 sections, Spring 2016, Spring 2017, Spring 2018; 1 section, Summer 2018)

- Empowered students to tackle challenging texts without fear and with full comprehension.
- Equipped students with an understanding of genre (poetry, drama, novels, stories) and wide historical range, from Shakespeare's King Lear to Julie Otsuka's When the Emperor Was Divine.

The Novel (1 section, Spring 2016)

- Focused on postwar American fiction, by writers including Saul Bellow, Don DeLillo, Vladimir Nabokov, Thomas Pynchon, Toni Morrison, and Marilynne Robinson.

Drama (1 section, Fall 2016)

- Survey of antiquity through the present day, with plays by Sophocles, Marlowe, Wilde, Beckett, Pirandello, Tennessee Williams, and Tom Stoppard.
- Guest lecturers included Narcos writer TJ Brady and Oscar-winning screenwriter Tom Schulman, who told our class about the real-life teacher who inspired Dead Poets Society.

Harvard University, Department of English

Postwar American and British Fiction, with James Wood (Spring 2013, Spring 2012)

- Head Teaching Fellow (2013).

Castaways and Renegades (American literature survey), with John Stauffer (Fall 2012)

- Arranged a field trip to Herman Melville's Arrowhead estate after students' curiosity was piqued by looking at manuscripts of Moby-Dick.

Harvard University, Program in General Education

American Protest Literature, with John Stauffer and Timothy McCarthy (Fall 2011)
