God's call. Fellowship
sustains each other.

Dear Friends,

New Year's resolutions work for me; not because I complete every item on the list, but because they help me live with intention. I didn't reach my goal of reading 50 books in 2025, yet I read more than the year before because I paid attention to it. Each year I return to the familiar goals: eat better, exercise more, but I place my spiritual life at the top of the list. During Advent, I prayed for clarity about what needed to change in me for the upcoming year. As I read our Advent devotional, one truth became clear: I need to trust God more. Whenever I rely on myself or even on others, however well-intentioned that reliance may be, I've put my trust in the wrong place.

My resolution for 2026 is to "Trust God More." If I believe that God's will is better than mine or anyone else's then trusting God more seems like the logical next step. I've also learned that trust, like getting in shape, requires actual effort. I can't sit in a gym, respect the dedication of others, and become healthier by proximity alone. (I've tried; it doesn't work). In the same way, being near faith without practicing it does not magically increase trust. If I want to trust God more, I need to show up and do the work: read Scripture, pray, worship, and live my faith daily. Unlike exercise, this kind of discipline renews the spirit instead of making me sore the next day.

We know this year will bring both joys and challenges we cannot yet anticipate. Even so, we move forward with confidence, trusting that God's grace will meet us day by day. If you sense that the world is longing for hope, the church remains the place where our hope takes root and grows. In our community and fellowship, we remind one another of God's faithfulness as we share stories, carry each other's burdens, and pray together. Whatever this year will bring, trusting God more means praying before we plan, listening before we act, and even bringing our anxieties honestly into God's care. When we live as the Church, we become a visible witness that God is still at work, still calling, still renewing lives.

I'm reminded of a sermon that made a huge impact on me. (It was preached by me, and I said), "Our best lives are when we are in tune with God's music." How I understood that is God is always active. All around us, all the time. When we tune in and join God's life for us, anything's possible. This is why I want to trust God more.

Peace,

Pastor Chris

Ilene will tell you that every year around this time, I start wishing for “new”. I want to turn my house upside down, empty everything out and only put back in a few things. I want a whole new ME – new clothes, new hair style, new, new, new. I’m wanting to change the old me (that really isn’t appealing anymore) with a newer, better version. Of course, the old me will come back out, no matter how much I clean everything out.

Many of us have made or will make resolutions on the first day of the New Year only to break them or give up on them by the end of the first week. It doesn’t have anything to do with will power – which I know I have none of – but rather because circumstances beyond our control happen.

The Lord gives us the promise of a new heart and new spirit in Ezekiel 36:26-27. “I will give you a new heart and put a new spirit within you; I will take the heart of stone out of your flesh and give you a heart of flesh. I will put My Spirit within you and cause you to walk in My statutes, and you will keep My judgments and do them.”

God is talking about a spiritual heart transplant. This new spiritual heart makes us feel Jesus Christ within us. Along with that new heart, God gives us the Holy Spirit, the Spirit of power. Like the new heart, Jesus breathes a new spirit within us, making us His new creation.

Maybe that’s why I want to make my life new every year. I’m tired and feeling like I’ve missed something. I need to make changes from the inside, not the outside. As we begin this new year, let’s ask God to give us a new heart, one that has been cleansed through confession and forgiveness, and ask for a renewed spirit in our lives and in the life of Christ Lutheran.

“Therefore, if anyone is in Christ, he is a new creation; old things have passed away; behold all things have become new.” 2 Corinthians 5:17.

Blessings,

Deacon Kathy

Happy Hour – 4:30, Dinner - 5:30

Holly & Laura will supply and prepare the meal

Use of the proceeds to be announced at a later date.

Souper Bowl Sunday

February 8th

This is a special offering opportunity that Christ Lutheran has participated in for over 20 years! The national purpose of this project is for local communities to support a local food bank or feeding program. We have supported Northwest Harvest, 2nd Harvest, The Henry Beauchamp Food Bank, and the Salvation Army.

This year, the Social Ministry committee has chosen to support our own feeding ministry – Camp Hope. Janet Frank and Suzanne Brown have done a great job of making our funds stretch to cover the costs of providing nutritious meals. However, our funds are shrinking and the costs have risen. Please bring your change, folding money, and checks on Souper Bowl Sunday so we can continue this outreach into our own community.

Thank you.
