Sermon Series

Deeply Rooted November 9 – November 23

In an age when the world’s problems can feel overwhelming and immovable, we are called to trust that our small, faithful acts can move mountains over time. In seasons of social turbulence and upheaval, when everything feels unsteady, we need deep roots—an anchor that holds us firmly in faith, community, and courage. This series explores how daily commitment to faithful, merciful, and generous living strengthens our inner reserves—ensuring we remain unshaken by life’s challenges.

Sermon Reflection

Words for Meditation: “My Lord God, I have no idea where I am going. I do not see the road ahead of me. I cannot know for certain where it will end. Nor do I really know myself, and the fact that I think I am following your will does not mean that I am actually doing so. But I believe that the desire to please you does in fact please you. And I hope I have that desire in all that I am doing.” Thomas Merton, Thoughts in Solitude

Today’s Questions

- When you think about your life right now, where are the “forks in the road” you’re currently facing? What choice are you being called to make, and what “road signs” (faith, reason, experience, community wisdom) are guiding you toward a decision?
- How might the paths you choose at life’s forks in the road reflect both your love for God and your love for neighbor? What would it look like to let these twin loves serve as your compass when you stand uncertain at the crossroads?

Today’s Takeaways

1. Life is a series of _____.
2. The _____ we make matter.
3. The love of _____ and _____ is our indispensable guide.
