PSALM 126

Psalm 126

The following content may serve as a guide in discussing Sunday's Scripture exposition. Feel free to forward this email to your small group or others. A suggested plan is as follows: review this content first; listen to the Sunday sermon second; be somewhat prepared already to have a discussion with your small group, family, or friends.

To begin:

What does it feel like to be on the other side of a difficult situation or a difficult time in your life?

OR

Is there some place that you have longed to be? Please share if you feel comfortable.

Before you proceed:

First, as you can, read Psalm 126 aloud in your group. If you have time, read it aloud a second time - from a different Bible translation. If you have time, read it aloud a third time - from an even different Bible translation.

As you begin your discussion, pray and ask God to speak to your group. Notice, what may God be highlighting for your discussion and learning?

Now that you have read the text together and prayed, what points and questions arise from your group? Spend plenty of time in your group to address these points and questions. Explore and see how God may give guidance in the discussion. The following are further questions you may use to guide your interaction with the text.

- What is the context of this Psalm?
- What was it God had done?
- How does God's actions impact the people?
- When you read this psalm, how does it make you feel?
- What do you learn about God from this passage?
- How can you carry the message of this psalm into your life this week?
