Are You Washed in the Blood of the Lamb?

The River is Here

Willow Tree

"We now have this light shining in our hearts, but we ourselves are like fragile clay jars containing this great treasure. This makes it clear that our great power is from God, not from ourselves." 2 Corinthians 4:7

Teresa loved her Willow Tree figurines. They each tell a story of what was in her heart. "Together." Family." Happiness." Birthdays." "Heart and Soul." I treasure those reminders now. So, I pick them up gently and carefully because I do not want them to break. Those breaks do come, and there are a couple of them that have missing hands that have been broken and even lost over the years. There are those pieces that were picked up and glued back together. Treasures of clay. Easily broken.

Are we not all treasures of clay that at some point in our lives become broken? Jesus then takes those broken pieces and uses His glues of Love, Comfort, Presence, and Peace to put our hearts back together. Yes, there are still cracks and scars that will never go away. However, they remind us of the love of the one who purchased them with His blood and called us His.

Those scars remind us that life is a lot like clay-fragile and broken. May we allow His light to shine brightly through our brokenness and draw others to Him. And may we remember that we are "jars of clay containing this great treasure" of God Himself.

Blessings,

~Rick
