God chose a man named Abraham to bring about His plan of rescue for all of creation. In order for that plan to take effect, Abraham had to be willing to follow God. God invited Abraham and his family to leave all they had ever known to be conduits of blessing to all people. The only problem was that they were not told where they were going. Sometimes, to follow God means to take steps of faith without knowing the ultimate destination. If you want to see God's power, you must have faith to get up and follow.
