Scriptural Background

Prepare to teach by preparing your heart. Read the key passages for this lesson along with this background.

The Old Testament closed with a warning of judgment (Malachi 2:2) and the promise of a Messiah (Malachi 4:2). And then waiting. Four hundred years of silence from God . . . until the fulfillment of the greatest event in history—the coming of the Messiah.

The New Testament—reflecting the fulfillment of the promised Messiah through Jesus Christ—was written primarily by the apostles. In John 14:26 we find that Jesus empowered the apostles through the Holy Spirit to recall, write, and interpret his life, words, and deeds. Jesus said, “But the Helper, the Holy Spirit, whom the Father will send in my name, he will teach you all things and bring to your remembrance all that I have said to you.” Jesus again promised his apostles a special revelation of truth through the Holy Spirit in John 16:13: “When the Spirit of truth comes, he will guide you into all the truth, for he will not speak on his own authority, but whatever he hears he will speak, and he will declare to you the things that are to come.”

The Apostle John verifies himself as an eyewitness to the events he wrote about: “This is the disciple who is bearing witness about these things, and who has written these things, and we know that his testimony is true” (John 21:24). And God officially warns against tampering with Scripture—admonishing that no words be added to or taken from this sacred book (Revelation 22:18–19). We can be confident that the writings of those empowered by Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit are inspired, inerrant, and infallible.

As the New Testament letters began to be gathered and read throughout the church, we find evidence that they were already being included as part of the Old Testament canon and described as “Scripture.” The Apostle Peter makes such a claim about Paul’s writings in 2 Peter 3:15–16 when he puts Paul’s epistles in the same category as the “other Scriptures.”

We can rest assured that the New Testament canon has now completed the Word of God. We are reminded of this truth through biblical, historical, and archaeological findings. Not only that, we know it is God’s Word because as we read it, we hear God’s voice throughout every book—and as children of God we never tire of it. It is the Word of our Creator God—revealing the divine power that grants us everything needed to live a life of godliness through the knowledge of God and of Jesus our Lord (2 Peter 1:3).

Historical/Apologetics Background

In his divine providence, God, not man, has determined through the Holy Spirit the books that make up the Bible. The early church, shortly after Christ’s death and resurrection, had no discussion about what made a book equal to the Old Testament Scriptures. It was universally accepted that if a letter came from Peter or Paul, it was deemed Scripture.

However, it wasn’t long before people began to add their own letters, thoughts, ideas, and gospels—desiring to fill in the gaps with what they believed should be included. Because of this, during the first 200 years of church history, certain questions were adopted to serve as the litmus test for the books added to the Bible. Those questions are:

Was the book or letter written by an apostle or under the direction of an apostle?

- Did the writing resound with the truth of God? Did it speak with the voice of authority as the Word of God and not the words of men?
- Were these writings used from the earliest of times? Attempts to include other writings from much later dates have been made. They have been rejected because the material is too new to have been apostolic.
- Did most churches accept these writings as the New Testament canon? Before the middle of the first century, 20 of the 27 books of the New Testament were universally accepted. And only a few churches questioned the other books.
- Did the writings conform to what the church taught? Because there was general agreement as to what the Christian message actually was, this question ruled out false teachings attempting to taint the truth.

All of the books of the Bible regarded as Scripture have been examined according to these questions, and have proven to be the Word of God. Yet still today we see that people attack the authenticity and reliability of the Scriptures. The Bible is increasingly regarded as irrelevant due to the apathy of our culture toward things of God and especially his Word. Consequently, we hear very little about the history of the Bible. As we take a quick look at the books of the New Testament below, remember that these books stood the test based on the questions mentioned above as they were included in the canon of the New Testament.

- The Gospels—Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John provide accounts of Jesus' life, death, and resurrection during his three-year ministry. Matthew, Mark, and Luke were written between AD 55 and 68; John was probably written in the 90s.
- The book of Acts provides an account of the history of the early church and the spread of Christianity after Christ's resurrection. Acts was written by Luke in the mid-60s.
- The Pauline epistles—Romans, 1 & 2 Corinthians, Galatians, Ephesians, Philippians, Colossians,

1 & 2 Thessalonians, 1 & 2 Timothy, Titus, and Philemon are 13 pastoral letters written by Paul as he endeavored to grow Christ's church in truth and sound doctrine. These letters were written between AD 51 and 65.

- The General epistles—Hebrews, James, 1 & 2 Peter, 1, 2 & 3 John, and Jude are letters written to believers by five different people. They include doctrinal and practical advice and were sent out to churches. These letters were written from the late-40s (James' letter) to the 90s (John's letters).

Most of the New Testament books were added to the Old Testament Scriptures by the early church and were considered the complete inspired canon around 150 AD—this is called the Muratorian Canon. However, due to false teachers and further attempts to change this compilation, other councils—general meetings of the Christian church—met to eliminate any confusion and bring unity to the church. The Council of Carthage in 397 finally affirmed publicly that the 66 books we have today were the divinely inspired Word of God—not to be added to or taken away from (Proverbs 30:5–6; Revelation 22:18–19).

to play Bible Pass Around. I want everyone to count with me up to the number _____. (You may also choose to recite the books of the Bible, sing one of the lesson songs, or recite the memory verse as you do this activity.) As we say each number (or word), you will carefully pass the Bible to the person beside you. Remember, we don't want to drop it or tear it. Then when we get to the last number (or word), whoever has the Bible will hold on to it until we are ready for it in our lesson. Hand the Bible to the first student. Here we go!

K-1st Lesson continues next. Go to page 102 for the Pre-K Lesson.

K-1st Lesson

Introduction

- ? Show the Lesson 6 Flip Chart. Last time, we talked about how God always keeps his Word safe. He won't let anyone destroy it or ruin it. What word did we use for that? It starts with a P. Preserve.

That's right. God preserves his Word so we can read it and learn everything we need to know about him.

- ? King Jehoiakim didn't want to learn from God's Word. What did he try to do to it? Destroy it. Burn it.

That's right. King Jehoiakim did not love God, so he didn't want to hear what God had to say. But if you love God, his Word is something you always need to pay attention to because that's where you learn how to obey God and trust him.

- ? Today I'm going to start with a question. How many of you like puzzles? Show of hands.

Show a simple puzzle that's nearly completed. Finish putting it together as you speak. Puzzles can be a lot of fun. One of the best things about puzzles is putting in the last piece and seeing the finished picture! Show the students the finished puzzle.

- ? But what if a piece were missing? Take out a piece. Would I still be finished with my puzzle? No.

No, I wouldn't. If the puzzle is missing a piece, then it is not complete! That means it's not finished yet.

- ? So what do I need to have for my puzzle to be complete? All the pieces.

That's right. Put the last piece back in. I need to have all the pieces. And that makes it complete.

► Don't forget!
Review the Optional Supplements and determine where you can use them.

► Have the puzzle and last few pieces ready.

God's Word Is Complete

? What about God's Word, the Bible. Is it complete? Did God already finish it? Allow answers.

? Do you think God would leave some pieces out? Is anything missing? No!

? No. God has already completed the Bible. It tells us the truth and everything we need to know about God. The Bible is a big book, isn't it? There are two big parts in the Bible. Do you know what they are? Old Testament and New Testament.

They are the Old Testament and the New Testament. Say those words with me: Old Testament and New Testament.

? I'll show you in my Bible. Who has the Bible? Bring it up now, please. Have the student bring up the Bible and open it to the sticky note.

Show the sections in your Bible. The Old Testament was written before Jesus was born. It is older! The New Testament was written after Jesus was born and tells about Jesus' life. It is newer.

So the Bible has two main parts, and together they make up the whole Bible. Hold up your Bible.

? Now, what if I took out the Old Testament? Would the Bible be complete? No!

? What if I took out the New Testament? Would it be complete then? No!

Refer to the Lesson Flip Chart and the puzzle. Right! Just like the puzzle, if you don't have all the parts, it won't be complete anymore. Both the Old Testament and the New Testament are important parts of God's Word—they work together to tell us about God. God's Word—the Bible—is complete. It has everything God wants it to have, just the way he wants it.

All of God's Word Is True

But is the whole Bible true? Can we trust everything in it?

Psalm 119:160

Let's read about that. Read Psalm 119:160.

? There's a word here we need to figure out. That word is "sum." It means the full amount of something, like saying "the whole thing." So listen to this verse again. Reread the first line of the verse.

? How much of God's Word is truth? The sum. All of it. The whole thing.

Yes. God wants us to know that ALL of his Word is true. Hold up your Bible. And it is complete, God already finished it; there is nothing missing, so we can trust the whole thing.

God's Word Won't Change

Now I want everyone to stand up. I'm going to give you some instructions, but you have to listen very carefully and do what I do. Ready? We're going to move fast. Give several commands, changing them quickly, such as stand on one foot, stand on both feet, hop on one foot, hop on both feet, turn to the right, turn to the left, sit down, stand up, etc.

- ? Phew! Okay. Sit back down now. How many of you thought that was confusing and hard to follow? Show of hands.
- ? Why was it confusing? Because you kept changing the commands.

I kept changing what we were supposed to do, right? And when things change, it can become confusing. But that's one great thing about God and his Word. The Bible says God will not change. There is a word that means God will always be the same—immutable. Say that with me: immutable.

So we've learned a few things about God's Word: it is complete, it is all true, and it will never change. We know we can trust it and obey what it says because it won't be different tomorrow or the next day.

We could say that God's Word is "set in stone." And I happen to have a stone with me!

Can anyone read what this stone says? It has part of the memory verse on it. Hold up your stone with "Forever, O LORD, Your word is firmly fixed in the heavens" written on it.

➤ Have the stone with the verse, an eraser, and a hand wipe ready.

- ? How long will God's Word be fixed in heaven? Forever.

Try to erase the verse with an eraser. That's right. These words are "set in stone," which means they can't be changed. I can't erase the verse from this stone.

Use the hand wipe to try to wipe the verse off the rock. I can't wipe it off either. It can't be changed! These words will stay on this rock! And God's Word is like that—it is complete, and it will always be the same. It is fixed in heaven FOREVER!

- ? How long will God's true words last? Forever.

That's right! We can believe God and what he says all the time! The Bible is complete and will never change. And we can trust all of it because God's entire Word is true.

It was hard because we kept changing what we were doing. When things change a lot it can be confusing and hard to follow. But that's one great thing about God. The Bible says God will not change.

- ? Do you think God will change what the Bible says? No!

Psalm 119:89

No! The Bible is complete, so it's not going to change. It's already finished and settled. Let's read about that. Read Psalm 119:89 emphasizing "Forever."

- ? How long will God's Word be firmly fixed in the heavens? Forever.

That's right. God's Word will never change; it's fixed in heaven forever. So we know we can trust it and obey what it says because it will be the same tomorrow and the next day. God's Word won't change.

Story Time

? Last time, Justin’s mom and Jessie’s mom were making something. Do you remember what they were making? Strawberry preserves, or jam.

? Right. Their moms were making strawberry preserves, like jam. Then what happened to the picture Justin and Jessie were drawing? Allow answers.

That’s too bad that Ellie colored on the first picture Justin and Jessie made. But in the end, everything worked out okay. And Justin and Jessie learned what it means to preserve something. They also heard how God preserves his Word.

Let’s find out what Justin and Jessie are doing this time.

Read the Justin and Jessie story as you show the picture.

Some people, like Matt’s family, don’t believe the Bible is important. But God gave us his Word so we can learn about him and how he sent his Son, Jesus, to die on the cross so sinners can be forgiven. Only the Bible has the whole truth about God.

Memory Verse Game

Use the Flip Chart Memory Verse Page as you play a memory verse game. Explain the verse to your students as you review it together.

Psalms 119:89–90 Forever, O LORD, your word is firmly fixed in the heavens. Your faithfulness endures to all generations; you have established the earth, and it stands fast.
