

Attendance is voluntary and there are anywhere from one to a dozen who may participate each week. Each new attendee is given a study Bible, a “Jesus Calling” devotional, and a paper that outlines the plan of salvation. These items are theirs to keep and may be taken with them when they leave jail.

Mosaic Church has been generously walking alongside this ministry by helping to provide the Bibles, devotionals and other Christian tracts and booklets used throughout the ministry. The Mullens also provide a lending library of Christian books for individuals attending the services to use while they are in jail for encouragement in their spiritual walk.
