

In our spiritual journey, are we truly growing or merely existing? This powerful message challenges us to examine the depth of our faith beyond surface-level beliefs. We're reminded that salvation isn't just a one-time event, but a continuous process of growth and transformation. The sermon delves into 1 Corinthians 15, emphasizing that the gospel isn't confined to a few verses, but encompasses Christ's death, burial, and resurrection - all according to Scripture. This challenges us to dig deeper into God's Word, not settling for a simplified version of faith. The message draws an intriguing parallel between spiritual and childhood development, highlighting how we learn through observation and imitation. Are we modeling Christ-like behavior for others to follow? This introspective approach urges us to consider: are we content with just enough faith to 'get by', or are we earnestly seeking a deeper, more transformative relationship with God?
