

In our journey of faith, we're called to embrace the whole will of God, not just the parts that comfort us. Like Paul's message to the Ephesian elders in Acts 20, we're reminded that knowing and sharing the complete truth of God's Word is crucial. This isn't about picking and choosing what suits us; it's about fully committing to God's plan. We're challenged to be like watchful shepherds, guarding against 'wolves' that distort the truth. This vigilance isn't just for church leaders - it's for all of us. Are we truly eager to learn, grow, and share the fullness of God's message? Let's consider how we can move beyond surface-level faith to a deeper understanding and lived experience of God's will. This journey may not always be easy, but it's essential for our spiritual growth and for effectively sharing our faith with others.
