The primary miracles of Epiphany violate laws of human nature.

Isaiah 60:1-6

People sometimes claim that what the Bible refers to as miracles can be explained by _____.

People often debate whether what part of the Epiphany story was natural or miraculous?

1. It's a miracle that people in the darkness are drawn to the light.

The phrase used whenever God makes his presence known in a visible, observable way: the _____ of the _____.

Isaiah says that people would be drawn to God's presence like a _____ shining in the _____.

What makes it miraculous that this would happen with kings?

What makes it miraculous that this would happen with people with wealth?

2. It's a miracle that people in the light rejoice when they are.

These words were written to the _____ people.

The people drawn from the darkness to the light would be what types of people?

How does Isaiah describe their miraculous reaction when they would see this?

For me to remember:

If God can work these miracles with people on the ground, then surely he can do whatever he wants with the stars in the sky.
