THOUGHTS ON THE JOURNEY

Over the last few days, our teenagers have been involved in RAD Weekend (Reach and Disciple). They have had the opportunity to worship, to be taught, and to engage in small group discussions. It is our prayer that this weekend will represent a life-changing encounter with Jesus Christ.

As you think back, you may remember similar events that you were involved in as a teen. I remember youth led revivals, summer camps, and weekend retreats. Each of these would have an impact on my life. Unfortunately, often the excitement from these events would fade. However, as I think back, I am not sure that I ever returned to the place I was in prior. Yes, the initial excitement would wear off, but there was growth that took place.

Let me encourage you to be praying for our teens. As they have made decisions for Christ and commitments to follow Him, we must be there to support them. This means that we need to be praying, encouraging, and to live as an example for them to follow. Our teens should not have to look far to see what a godly man or woman looks like.

For the teens who have made these decisions, I would say hang in there. You will not be perfect as you move forward, but you can be consistent. Yes, you will stumble and fall. The question becomes, will you get up and go again? Will you remember your commitment and keep pressing on? I pray you will. I also want to say, I am available to talk, pray, and encourage.

Honored to be your pastor,

DARRELL
