THOUGHTS ON THE JOURNEY

It is impossible to come face to face with Christ and remain unchanged. You might argue that point and say, “I encountered Christ, and nothing changed.” But I would warn you that things have changed, just not the way you might expect. You see, to reject Christ is to harden our hearts. Instead of being broken and drawing near, we harden ourselves and push further away.

“We can recognize that He is the Messiah and follow Him, or we can push away and allow our uncertainties to rule the day.”

In today’s passage, we will see a number of people who encounter Christ. Some are changed for the good and others are not. Some recognize Jesus Christ for who He is while others stiffen their necks and refuse to recognize him.

As we will see, the determination of which way things go has nothing to do with social status, wealth, or education. One thing and one thing only matters – what you do with Christ. I was struck as I began studying the passage for today. There are numerous people from all kinds of backgrounds, but all share a common decision – what must happen with Christ.

We share the same common decision with these folks. We must make a decision as to what we will do with Christ. We can recognize that He is the Messiah and follow Him, or we can push away and allow our uncertainties to rule the day. My honest prayer for each of you is that you would see Him as Lord and surrender you life to Him.

Honored to be your pastor,

DARRELL

In what ways has Jesus changed your life? Have you surrendered yourself to His will? What happens when we refuse to surrender when God calls?
