THOUGHTS ON THE JOURNEY

I have heard people say, jokingly, “My family puts the FUN in disFUNctional.” Well, we hope that is not true. However, we must admit that family relationships can be some of the most difficult and challenging relationships that we have. I have probably done more counseling related to the family in one way or the other than any other issue. The reality is, it is just hard at times.

“Can I encourage you to listen to what God has to say about marriage and family? And finally, can I challenge you to give it a try?”

It is interesting to sit back and observe all that goes on. We live in a progressive culture with progressive ideas. People in our society want to reject the ideas of the Bible as old or archaic. They view these truths as something of a bygone era. Then, they try and figure out why their marriage is not working, why they have a tremendous amount of trouble with their kids, and why life in general is frustrating.

May I challenge you to step back and let go of the “political correctness” for just a second? Can I challenge you to listen to today’s message with an open mind? Can I encourage you to listen to what God has to say about marriage and family? And finally, can I challenge you to give it a try, even if just for a season, and see if things don’t go smoother.

Today we will examine what the Word of God says about these things. Paul has some straightforward advice that will challenge us. We will see how, according to God’s word, we are to function within the family unit. If you are struggling in your marriage, or as a parent, I pray that today will be an encouragement to you.

Men, be warned, I’m coming after you (and myself).

Honored to be your pastor,
