THOUGHTS ON THE JOURNEY

Sometimes I forget that the Bible was written by, to, and for real people. Real people...ordinary people... just like you and I. That fact, for me, is easy to forget because there are so many supporting actor heroes that are found in the Biblical text in no certain order (off the top of my head)... Elijah...Moses...David... Peter...Paul...and of course the main character...Jesus, the Son of God. So many heroes of faith displaying gifts, talents, and skill sets that I feel I have little or none of...making me feel insignificant...with not much to offer.

On the other hand, it's easy to forget that every aspect of your life is significant to God. He knows the number of hairs (or lack thereof) on your head (Luke 12:7)...he's bottled up all of your tears (Psalm 56:8). You matter to God.

All of your “comings” and “goings”...your coming to church this morning to worship...your going to work tomorrow...your trip to the grocery store...the whole of your life matters to God.

As a discipleship pastor, I have tended to focus the lion's share my attention and place a significant amount of importance on the hour(s) that I get to see you on the Northside campus. Sundays (and midweek activities) are significant times for us to gather to focus upon and worship God, to read and wrestle with Scripture and its application, to build friendships of faith with other followers of Jesus, and to pray together. Our gathered times are significant.

But, the whole of our lives also includes the times we are scattered about as followers of Jesus...98% of Christians spend 95% of their waking lives “out there” on a “frontline” – in homes, at school, work, and in social settings. Those arenas that we call frontlines are significant to God (Our frontlines actually belong to God anyway – Psalm 24:1). Jesus prayed that his heavenly Father's “Kingdom would come and his will would be done on Earth (in all arenas...on all frontlines) as it is in heaven.”(Matt 6:10)

Oh, yeah, and there is something else that is significant to God...it's the time that he has given you and I. Last week (time that we will never get back) was significant. The week you are starting today...significant. Next week, significant as well.

God cares about your whole life...and so do your pastors at Northside. Where will you be this time tomorrow? In what places and situations will you find yourself in this week? Take time to pray for your week. It will be significant.

Each of us have our own frontlines with our own web of relationships. In what areas do you long for God's Kingdom to be made known on your frontline?

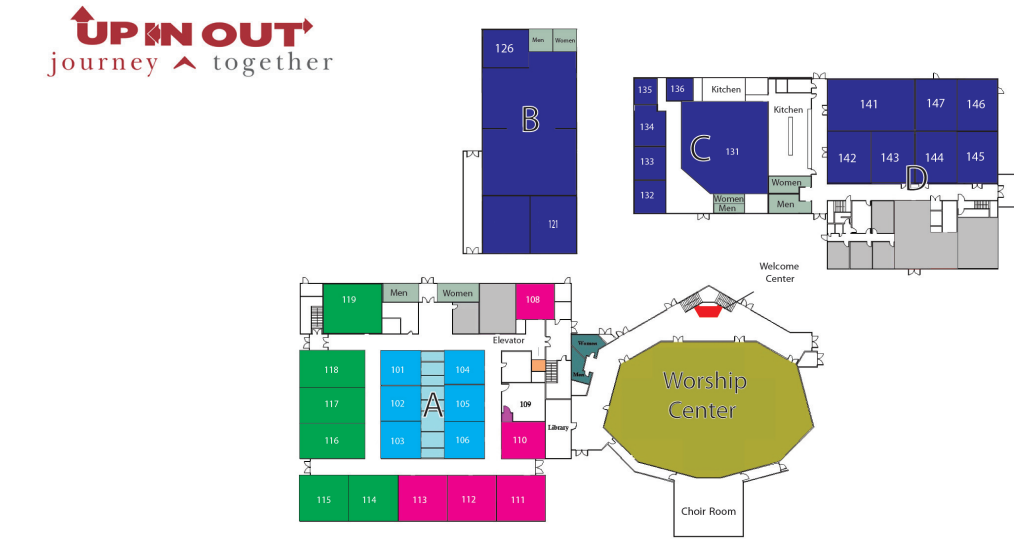

Know that in your “comings” and “goings” of this week that you, your time, and your frontline are significant to God. You have an opportunity as a follower of Jesus to live out the hope that we have in Christ on your specific frontline. God has a way of accomplishing extra-ordinary things through seemingly ordinary people like you and I.

I would look forward to praying for you and your frontline. You can tell me about it here: deanmeade@nbcvictoria.org.

It's a privilege to serve as your Discipleship Pastor,

Dean Meade
