THOUGHTS ON THE JOURNEY

Can you imagine what must have gone through Mary’s mind when she encountered the angel, Gabriel? Probably in her early to mid-teens and she receives life changing news. Though she has never known a man, she will conceive and bear a child. Additionally, this is not just any child; this child will be known as the Son of the Most High. Though she certainly knew this would impact the rest of her life, she responds by saying, “Behold, I am the servant of the Lord; let it be to me according to your word.”

How would you respond if you received a life altering call from the Lord? Would you be willing to submit if this calling would impact the rest of your life? Could you accept it if you knew that heartaches, challenges, and struggles lie ahead? What is the limit you would go to in order to be obedient to the Lord? While Mary could not have understood the full impact of her calling, she was willing to accept what she did understand.

Not only did Mary’s calling affect her, but it affected those around her. Her willingness to obey would have a serious impact on those she loved. Specifically, her fiancé, Joseph would be impacted by God’s direction in her life. He, as well as she, would be subject to ridicule, rumors, and gossip. But Joseph, like Mary, was willing to submit to God’s call.

As we look at this story today, we must recognize that God moves in strange and peculiar ways at times. When He does, we must determine if we are going to trust Him or not. We must decide if there is any limit to the distance that we would go to honor our Lord.

My hope and prayer for each of you is that you would give God your “Yes” in advance. That you would be willing to say, “Whatever you ask me to do, however far you ask me to go, however difficult the journey may be, my answer is yes.” It is here, in the midst of uncertainty, that we can find our greatest sense of peace.

Honored to be your pastor,

DARRELL
