

...So I Am!

I awaken to the heartbeat of His love before the rising of the sun. His unfailing faithfulness found me thankful for this day. I move with expectations that His goodness, grace, and mercy have gone before me. The day is full of back-to-back blessings and favors; I can't escape His Love for me it's all around me like the air I breathe. His mind is full of me. He never stops thinking about how He loves me. Angels move around me with power and might against the forces of darkness. I stand ready today to bless others at His command. God has so blessed my hands with plenty that I can't even think broke. My steps are ordered so I can't fail, my mind is at peace, and my thoughts are filled with His grace. So, I Am! Blessed by His Unmeasurable, Unstoppable and Unlimited Love. God Loves Me...So I Am!