Grief doesn't end; it changes.
A Chesed Companion can be there for you.

Why: LBT's Chesed Companionship Program is about building relationships, showing up for and supporting our mourners through life's most challenging moments and transitions.

What: The Chesed Companionship Program is structured to bring comfort to LBT congregants traveling along their grief journey.

How: The Chesed Companionship Program provides a specially trained LBT congregant (Chesed Companion) who walks alongside the mourner.

"Grief is about loss. Among its many faces, grief can leave us profoundly sad, confused, exhausted, questioning, angry, yearning, or newly energized."

~Bay Area Jewish Healing Center

"My spouse died in the horrible middle of Covid. It was a terribly lonely, weird time to lose someone. As for the Chesed Companionship Program, my companion and I hit it off immediately; I had never met them before. We didn't talk that much about loss. We found plenty of things to talk about in common, and they were a wonderful sounding board. I so enjoyed our walks. I just loved their company, they were very easy to talk to." ~LBT Chesed Mourner

"The LBT Chesed Companion experience provided me with much needed and much appreciated support after my spouse's death. Professional, confidential, and caring weekly conversations with a true mensch." ~LBT Chesed Mourner

If you are wanting to learn more about the Chesed Companionship Program, please contact Rabbi Scott Goldberg at sgoldberg@leobaecktemple.org

We are grateful to Mt. Sinai Memorial Parks for their grant in support of our Chesed initiative.*

We mourn with our temple families who have lost loved ones during this past year.

We think as well of the many innocent victims of violence who lost their lives in this past year,
and those who perished serving our country
and our people's ancient home.

May the Giver of Peace send peace to all who mourn and comfort to all who are bereaved.

Zichronam Livracha

May their memory be a blessing.

Special prayers and meditations are included in this memorial booklet to strengthen you in times of bereavement and to assist you when observing yahrzeit.

May the inspiration found on these pages
bring comfort in your hour of mourning and solace in your hour of sorrow.

The Courage to Remember

Yizkor is not an affirmation of absence. Yizkor is our brave acknowledgment of the enduring presence of our loved ones, set so deeply within us that we can almost feel them sitting right next to us sometimes, the shape and texture of their hands holding ours, stroking our hair, touching our hearts. They are in us, and being courageous enough to reach for them – as we always did back when the exchange was immediate and so much easier – is both gratifying and heart-wrenching.

It is less painful to look away in distraction. We all do it from time to time. We must. But if we only look away in distraction, neglecting the prospect of daring moments like this one, we pay an unacceptable price to escape our pain.

On this day of Yom Kippur, strengthened by one another, we say: “I won’t look away, even though it’s easier. I won’t dodge the tears, even though I fear them, for the price of armoring my heart is simply too severe. There is a promise between us – a promise born from the love that we shared – a promise to sustain the story of your life... the lessons you learned and taught... the laughter you enjoyed and inspired... the seeds you lived to plant.”

This is the contract, spanning the bridge between life and death, that we share with our departed parents, spouses, siblings, children and friends whom we hold close on this day. This is how we Jews remember. Let us meet this moment of encounter with bold spirits and ready hearts – and grant a new day to their living legacies.

– Rabbi Ken Chasen

Memorial Prayers

God is my shepherd; I shall not want. God makes me lie down in green pastures; Leads me beside the still waters, and restores my soul.

You lead me in right paths for the sake of Your Name. Even when I walk in the valley of the shadow of death I shall fear no evil, for You are with me; Your rod and Your staff, they comfort me. You have set a table before me in the presence of my enemies; You have anointed my head with oil; my cup overflows. Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life, And I shall dwell in the house of God forever.

– Psalm 23

Would that the people we love and need could be with us always. But that cannot be, no matter how much we wish it so. Why is it this way? We do not know. We will never know. That is the central mystery of life. All we can do is cherish our loved ones, until the time comes, as it must, when they are taken away from us. Then, like all the generations before, we must weep for those we have lost and carry on, sustained by the knowledge that something of their essence abides, always with us as long as we live, giving us strength and courage, comfort and hope.

– Rabbi Sanford Ragins

Memorial Prayers

It is hard to sing of oneness when the world is not complete, when those who once brought wholeness to our life have gone, and naught but memory can fill the emptiness their passing leaves behind.

But memory can tell us only what we were in company with those we loved; it cannot help us find what each of us, alone, must now become. Yet no one is truly alone: those who live no more, echo still within our thoughts and words, and what they did is part of what we have become.

We do best homage to our dead when we live our lives more fully, even in the shadow of our loss. For each of our lives is worth the life of the whole world; in each one is the breath of the Ultimate One. In affirming the One, we affirm the worth of each one whose life, now ended, brought us closer to the Source of life, in whose unity no one is alone and every life finds purpose.

– Rabbi Richard Levy

Memorial Prayers

In Memory of a Father

Your memory, dear father, fills my heart and soul at this hour. It revives in me thoughts of the love, tenderness, and kindness which you always bestowed upon me. My thoughts of you continue to inspire me to live up to the best that is within me, to a life of similar love and goodness. When my own pilgrimage on earth is ended, may I be worthy of you and your love. May your soul be embraced within God's love, and may God grant you eternal peace.

Amen!

In Memory of a Mother

I remember you in this hour, dear mother. I recall the days when you dwelled on earth, and your tender love watched over me like a guardian angel. You have gone from me, but the bond which unites our souls can never be severed; your image lives on within my heart and the impress of your love and concern fills me with thoughts of tenderness and love. May God lift up the Divine light upon you and grant you eternal peace.

Amen!

In Memory of a Husband

I remember you in this hour, dear companion of my life. I remember the happy days we lived together and shared life's joys and sorrows; I remember your loving embrace, the tender affection which wedded our hearts, the selflessness we knew while hand in hand we journeyed together through life, when your love and faithfulness were my comfort, and your counsel and friendship were my support. Though death has taken you from me, your image still lives on within every fiber of my being and continues to be an inspiration to me. May God keep you and grant you peace eternal.

Amen!

Memorial Prayers

In Memory of a Wife

Your memory, dear companion of my life, now fills my heart and soul. I remember all the happy days we lived together and shared life's joys and sorrows. I remember your loving embrace, the tender affection which wedded our hearts, the selflessness we knew while hand in hand we journeyed together through life, when your love and faithfulness were my comfort, and your counsel and friendship were my support. I treasure you still within my heart and pray only that I may be worthy of you and your love. Though death has taken you from me, your image still lives within me and is a source of inspiration to me. May God keep you and grant you peace eternal.

Amen!

In Memory of a Child

I remember you in this hour, my beloved child. I remember the days when I watched you grow and develop. I remember the joy I felt in your every breath, the love we knew together, all the hopes which I had for your future. Though death has taken you from me, you live on within my heart and soul. You can never die. May the knowledge that you are in God's presence now afford me a measure of comfort. May God continue to embrace you with Divine love and grant you eternal peace.

Amen!

In Memory of a Sister, Brother, or a Friend

I remember you in this hour, my beloved sister (brother, friend). I remember the days when we lived together as companions and your loving friendship was my delight and support. Though death has taken you from me, your image abides with me. When I think of you gratitude for all of our years together fills my heart and I bless your memory for the friendship you once showed me. May God bless you and keep you and grant you eternal peace.

Amen!

“In the beginning of the year and when it ends; we remember them...”

Rabbi Sylvan Kamens and Rabbi Jack Riemer

During this time of hope, reflection, and prayer, may the memories of your loved ones bring you peace.
