YEAR END GIVING

Crazy to believe that 2023 is already coming to a close, but honestly, with how busy of a year it has been, the beginning of 2023 feels like ages ago!

This past year was full of fun, and at times stressful, travel. I was able to return in person to the Missionary Kid (MK) Caregiver Summit for the first time since 2019. I made my first overseas field visit to a CTEN family. I was also able to do my normal college visit to Liberty and add in a new college road trip to visit nine college age CTEN MKs.

In the office, I got a new office space that has a room fully dedicated for kids. I had 16 kids go through our MK orientation program. I was also able to attend some different online trainings to help continue my education in MK care.

This year has been a very productive and growing year. I love seeing how God is starting to grow my role as the MK Pastoral Care for CTEN. While some of my ministry expenses are covered by CTEN, not all are. To the right is listed some ministry expenses I had this past year that CTEN does not cover, as well as upcoming expense for the next year. Would you consider giving a one-time gift to help cover these expenses?

2023 Expenses

- Azmera Summit- $500
- MK Caregiver Summit- $500
- Canva (online editing tool)- $120
- SafetyStories Trauma training- $110
- Resource Materials/ Books- $100

2024 Expenses

- MK Caregiver Summit- $600
- Canva- $120
- TCK Training Caregiver Membership- $575
- TCK Training Debriefing Recertification- $600

Total One-Time
Expenses: $3,225

*It was great meeting
w/some of you. Thank you for the continued
prayer and support.

I joked on my birthday that turning 30 must mean all expense go up because it sure seemed like they did! Thankfully, God blessed me with a side job cleaning Airbnb cabins to help make up for the monthly support that I was short and for those who have had to drop throughout the year. Technically, I am not suppose to have another job, but CTEN has allowed me to do this, so that I am at a sufficient budget.

I am currently $1,000 a month short of my ideal support budget. Please prayerfully consider either joining my monthly support team or increasing if you already are a supporter. I would like to be able to stop cleaning cabins, so my focus may be fully back on CTEN and providing care to our MKs.
