

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS:

1. What struck you as most meaningful in this video?
2. Steve says, “A father is the most important man in his daughter’s life.” How does this truth affect the way you will raise your daughter? (If you don’t have a daughter, how can you apply these questions to younger girls/women in your life—how can you model influence to them as a Christian man?)
3. Our culture bombards our girls with many harmful messages and outright lies. How can you counter the lies she hears every day?
4. Steve says the core need of your daughter is relational connection. While moms are very important, why is your daughter’s connection with you so pivotal?
5. What role do you play in helping your daughter find and marry the right man?
6. What are some of the biggest lies of modern-day feminism? (pp. 205–206) and how can you teach your daughter the incalculable value of motherhood and shaping a home?
7. Just as for boys, the three “A’s” your daughters need are; Attention, Affirmation, & Affection. How do these prevent love hunger? Protect against gender confusion? Help her to look forward to becoming a woman?

TAKE IT HOME:

- How can I take the initiative this week to encourage my daughters? If I don’t have daughters, apply this to my sons, or my wife, or to encourage those around me that do have daughters—how can I encourage and pray for them?
