Highlights Abound from SBC25 in Dallas

With over 18,000 individuals gathering together in Dallas, the 2025 Southern Baptist Convention is now in the books. There are many joys of being at the Annual Meeting, but for me, seeing so many Ohio Baptists and representing the SCBO is always a blessing.

As great as it is to hear wonderful preaching, see friends from all over the country, and visit the exhibit halls, the annual highlight for me is always the commissioning of our new missionaries at the IMB Sending Celebration.

We commissioned 58 more obedient followers of Christ to take the gospel to the nations! This is why we give and go - to take the gospel across the street and around the world.

We also heard that baptisms were up in 31 state conventions in 2024. Thank you, SCBO family, for your faithful giving to the Cooperative Program, Lottie Moon Christmas Offering, and Annie Armstrong Easter Offering that helped make this possible.

A major emphasis this year was the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the Cooperative Program. Displays and exhibit booths shared important documents and photos from the 1925 SBC meeting in Memphis, TN, commemorating this unique and new method of funding.

In addition to the celebrations throughout each day, there was a special gathering on Tuesday evening. Nearly 1,000 pastors and SBC leaders gathered to hear testimonies as well as a special message from Dr. Jeff lorg.

I had the honor and joy of being asked to share at this CP100 dinner celebration. What a special blessing it was to share stories and statistics on how the Lord is using faithful pastors and leaders from across the Buckeye State to reach both men and women with the Gospel of Jesus Christ.

God is at work among us, and I am thankful for the kind and charitable spirit all week long from fellow Southern Baptists. Clint Pressley was re-elected for another year as SBC president, and the SBC Cooperative Program allocation budget was approved without amendment.

Let us remember to be charitable to one another as we agree to disagree as brothers and sisters in Christ. Let us also stay focused on the mission - making and multiplying disciples across Ohio and around the world for Christ!

Moving forward,

Jos White

The Spirit vs. The Flesh

22 But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, 23 gentleness, self-control; against such things there is no law. 24 And those who belong to Christ Jesus have crucified the flesh with its passions and desires.

The Holy Bible: English Standard Version (Ga 5:22-24). (2016). Crossway Bibles.

Great things are happening through our cooperation in the Southern Baptist Convention.

The enemy doesn't like that.

Missionaries are being sent; churches are being planted, re-planted, and re-vitalized; leaders are being trained; the Gospel is being proclaimed; and lives are being transformed by the power of Christ!

The enemy doesn't like any of that.

The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control.

The enemy doesn't like any of that either.

Just above the fruit of the Spirit, Paul gives us a different kind of list... "Now the works of the flesh are evident: sexual immorality, impurity, sensuality, idolatry, sorcery, enmity, strife, jealousy, fits of anger, rivalries, dissensions, divisions, envy, drunkenness, orgies, and things like these."

The enemy loves that stuff.

One of the great things about our cooperation is that it's a really big group. And in any large group of people, there will be:

Genuine disagreements among faithful believers

Wolves in sheep's clothing

The challenge we have is that we sometimes think people from Group 1 are members of Group 2. Further, we think that the best way to deal with either group is to embrace the enemy's tactics... enmity, strife, jealousy, anger, rivalries, dissensions, and divisions.

The enemy loves that stuff.

Believers can disagree. Believers can disagree sharply. But disagreement is never an excuse to reject the commands of Christ.

So, let's strive to love one another, even amid sincere disagreements. Let's strive to increase the degree to which we exemplify the fruit of the Spirit. Let's work to ensure that our conversations are marked by love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control instead of enmity and strife.

Grace and Peace.

Reasons for Encouragement in the Northwest Region

By Matt Pardi, Northwest Region catalyst

Blessings from the Northwest Region. For many of us, summer is a time to reset. We are celebrating graduations, spending extra time with family, and taking vacations after a busy spring. As we reflect, there's so much to be thankful for here in the Northwest Region.

We are grateful to prayerfully and financially support four effective ministries that are making a real impact in the NW: WellSpring, serving the internationals; Life Station and Mosaic Ministries, serving the poor and needy, and The Disciples House, ministering to those in prison.

"He has shown you, O man, what is good. And what does the Lord require of you?

To act justly and to love mercy and to walk humbly with your God." Micah 6:8

Caring for the needy and reaching the outsider is at the heart of humility and Christ's mission—and it's our joy to be part of that work.

We're also encouraged by the spirit of humility and unity we're seeing in local church mergers in the region. Each church is unique—some large, some small, some urban, some rural, some newly planted, and others revitalizing through partnership. No matter the size or setting, our passion is to serve pastors and support churches in the ways God is leading.

Church mergers are an encouragement in the Northwest Region. One example is at Gateway Church, Toledo, where two congregations came together in humility to form a stronger, unified church. Another is in Northwood, where we've seen First Baptist Church, Northwood and Oregon Baptist Church unite. Both mergers have resulted in new people, salvations, baptisms, and a renewed sense of purpose. God is clearly at work!

We are also encouraged by the partnership with FBC Perrysburg and All-Nation Baptist Church. Their connection and sharing is a blessing to all involved.

Whatever season your church is in—whether you need revitalization, are exploring a merger, or pursuing a new vision for 2026—we hope that SCBO can be a blessing and encouragement to you. We truly believe we are better together. Through our partnerships, associations, and regional efforts, we can bring more glory to God in Ohio.

Thank you for all you are doing to serve the Lord. And thank you for your faithful giving to the Cooperative Program. Your generosity is helping us serve and equip churches across our state. We are going in a great direction!

Lastly, one of last year's highlights was our regional outing to a Toledo Mud Hens game. It was a fun night of fellowship, food, and family. We're excited to do it again this summer on Friday, July 18 at 7 pm at Fifth Third Field in Toledo. We'd love to have you, your spouse, and your kids join us! It's a small token of our appreciation for all you do for the kingdom of God.

Please let us know how we can pray for you and serve you.

Regional Worship Catalysts, Worship Gatherings Available to Ohio

Leaders By Zac James, SCBO worship consultant

In the past year and a half, I've tried to learn as much as I possibly can about how Southern Baptists are serving churches across the country in the area of worship.

Through conferences, contacts, and some wonderful friendships, I've gotten to see what other states are doing in worship ministry. Georgia and South Carolina are utilizing a model that I would like to replicate in Ohio. It's very similar to what SCBO does with regional catalysts but applied to worship ministry.

Here's the vision: I want to have a regional worship consultant in all six regions of Ohio and build a team that can serve our 600-plus churches more effectively.

However, it's not just a vision. It's happening!

I'm thrilled to announce that we are rolling out regional worship consultants in four of our six regions!!

These regional worship catalysts are high-capacity leaders who serve in our SCBO churches as well as helping our churches as volunteers behind the scenes.

Let me introduce you to our new team:

Northeast Region - Kevin Lorow, worship pastor, Cuyahoga Valley Church, Cleveland.

Central Region - Joe Kibbey, worship pastor, Living Hope Church, Columbus.

Southwest Region - David Anderson, worship pastor, Lakota Hills BC, Cincinnati.

Southeast Region - Sarah Walton, worship director, The Bridge Ministries, Lancaster.

Pastors, these leaders will be driving new regional worship gatherings, and I urge you to require your worship leader to attend. We are planning these events for times when bi-vocational and volunteer leaders will be more likely to be able to attend.

These events will encourage them, sharpen them, and give them people they can call for help when they get stuck. If you don't have a worship leader, come yourself or send whoever is leading as a volunteer. We deeply care about helping the people doing the work no matter their title, church size, or pay status.

If you're a church plant affiliated with NAMB/SEND, you are a huge priority for us. Our leaders have already been connected with SEND, and we want to help serve you however we can.

Your generosity to Cooperative Program giving makes it possible for us to pursue excellence and encourage worship leaders, many of whom are bi-vocational or volunteers.

For information about upcoming regional worship events, check out the Worship Gathering graphic.

DALLAS (BP) – More than 18,000 people gathered at the Dallas convention center for the 2025 SBC Annual Meeting under the theme "Hold Fast" from Hebrews 10 and an urging from SBC President Clint Pressley to cling to what makes Southern Baptists unique.

Messengers saw moments of celebration of Southern Baptist doctrine and cooperation as well as some moments of intense debate about how best to protect them.

Crossover takes Gospel across Dallas metroplex

A sweltering Saturday in Dallas served as the capstone to a week of Gospel-centered outreach and service to the communities in the metroplex as Southern Baptists gathered for Crossover Dallas to reach the city.

Through the help of local churches in Dallas, associations like the Dallas Baptist Association, and the two state conventions, thousands of volunteers came alongside dozens of churches to proclaim the gospel through various outreach events ahead of the SBC Annual Meeting.

"We had 89 churches locally involved in hosting events; 2,955 volunteers who participated," NAMB vice president Tim Dowdy said in a report to messengers June 10. "We had 13,638 homes visited; 17,033 people heard the Gospel, and 711 people came to know Jesus as Lord and Savior."

Southern Baptists celebrate 100th anniversary of BF&M and Cooperative Program

Messengers celebrated two important milestones while in Dallas with resolutions and times of reflection marking the 100th anniversaries of the Baptist Faith and Message and the Cooperative Program.

The commemoration included a video featuring Southern Baptist Theological Seminary President Albert Mohler giving a brief history of Baptist confessions, the need for the BF&M and its continued place in the SBC.

New Orleans pastor and former SBC president Fred Luter prayed for the Convention's ongoing commitment to biblical fidelity.

Mohler and Luter were joined by former New Orleans Seminary president Chuck Kelley and former Ethics & Religious Liberty Commission president Richard Land, all members of the committee that worked on the 2000 revision of Southern Baptists' statement of faith.

Southern Baptists also marked the centennial of the Cooperative Program, the SBC's strategy for funding its missions and ministry. Since its inception in 1925, more than $20 billion has flowed through the Cooperative Program. "Twenty billion!" Dr. Jeff Lorg emphasized. "Thank you, Southern Baptists, for every dollar you have given, the faithful giving of our forefathers, and for the immeasurable, eternal impact of these results. We celebrate God's past acts today, but more importantly, we build this memorial so we can point to future generations and say, 'This is what God can do through a people who cooperate together."

In a resolution, messengers expressed thanks to God and "for Southern Baptist churches and individuals that give faithfully and sacrificially through the Cooperative Program."

Motions address ERLC, constitutional amendment

Messengers narrowly defeated a proposed constitutional amendment and voted not to abolish the Ethics & Religious Liberty Commission (ERLC) during the two-day session. A motion by Texas pastor Tom Buck to investigate claims that the SBC Executive Committee mistreated and maligned a former EC chairman also failed.

A motion by Juan Sanchez, pastor of High Pointe Baptist in Austin, to amend the SBC Constitution to define a cooperating church as a congregation that "affirms, appoints or employs only men as any kind of pastor" gained just over 60 percent of the vote, but failed to garner the first of two two-thirds majorities needed to adopt it.

In the latest attempt to abolish or defund the ERLC, nearly 57 percent of messengers voted to keep the entity. The motion to abolish was brought by Willy Rice, pastor of Calvary Church in Clearwater, Fla.

Southern Baptists hear from entities and seminaries

Reports from SBC entities included updates on efforts and initiatives carried forward over the past year.

Among the reports, messengers heard from the International Mission Board, the North American Mission Board, the Ethics & Religious Liberty Commission, Guidestone Financial. Resources, Lifeway Christian Resources and all six SBC seminaries.

At 100, CP's Past Portends Bright Future

By David Roach, writer, Mobile, Alabama

NASHVILLE (BP) – It was a challenging time for the SBC's Cooperative Program (CP). The U.S. economy slowed. Baptist leaders committed embarrassing and costly sins. As some alleged creeping liberalism in the Convention, doctrinal squabbles threatened cooperation.

The SBC president put it this way: "Many of our people have become discouraged and disheartened, while others have lost their enthusiasm and devotion to kingdom work. We have seemed to be united in nothing but the opinion that the denomination is in a bad way."

If you think that's a description of 2025, think again. That was the situation in the SBC nearly a century ago, described by then-SBC President W.J. McGlothlin. But the tide turned. Despite appearing on the brink of failure, CP persisted in what historians cite as an example for today's SBC as the Cooperative Program turns 100 years old and faces similar trials.

"In the midst of all those challenges, we always addressed the individual challenge but under the overarching idea that we needed to focus on remaining together," said Lloyd Harsch, professor of church history and Baptist studies at New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary.

A dark past

The challenges to CP were serious in the 1920s and 1930s. First, there was the financial downturn.

In 1919, the SBC launched a precursor program to CP, the 75 Million Campaign, to raise $75 million for Convention missions and ministries. By May 1920, Southern Baptists had pledged $92.6 million to the campaign. Then recession hit before the pledges were fulfilled and actual gifts totaled just $58.6 million.

Unfortunately, Convention ministries had committed themselves to spending in line with the pledges. That necessitated SBC entities' taking on debt of approximately $6.5 million by 1926, the equivalent of $117 million today. The Great Depression made matters worse. The dollar was worth less, and more money was required to repay the loans.

Leadership failures compounded the problem. In 1928 it was discovered that Home Mission Board (HMB) treasurer Clinton Carnes had stolen $909,461 – the equivalent of nearly $17 million today. The previous year, the Foreign Mission Board learned that its treasurer had stolen more than $103,000. The situation became so dire by the 1930s that HMB creditors suggested filing bankruptcy.

Doctrinal divisions complicated the SBC's efforts to unify and climb out of its financial hole. Amid the Modernist-Fundamentalist Controversy of the early 20th century, Texas pastor J. Frank Norris attacked Convention leaders

Celebrating the Cooperative Program Episode Three: CP100 - Gary Frost

Throughout 2025, SCBO is celebrating the 100th Anniversary of the Cooperative Program with "CP100," a series of interviews highlighting the impact of the Cooperative Program on churches and individuals in each of Ohio's six regions.

This month, CP100 visits the Northeast Region of Ohio.

The Cooperative Program isn't like a club membership, according to Pastor Gary Frost, The Open Door Church, Youngstown. "The issue is not what you get out of it. It's what you are joining others to do in advancing the kingdom," he said. As a long-time Southern Baptist pastor, association leader, state leader, and NAMB vice president, Frost has a deep love for the SBC and the Cooperative Program. "I love this convention. I believe in the purpose and the vision. Just watching how the Cooperative Program operates – we call it a 'program,' but it's a cooperative culture."

Don't miss episode three: CP100: Gary Frost.

as modernists, those denying the truth of Scripture and adapting Christianity to modern culture.

"Some of the concerns were valid," said Gregory Wills, professor of church history at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. "But for the most part, the modernists who were teaching at our institutions were keeping their views secret." When it "became clear they were teaching modernism, they were fired."

Amid the multiplied challenges, Southern Baptists' gifts to missions, educational and benevolent causes declined for 14 consecutive years beginning in 1920, according to "The Southern Baptist Handbook," an annual record of statistics published by the Baptist Sunday School Board in the 20th century. Gifts did not eclipse 1921 levels until 1943, the year the SBC finally retired its debt – a victory celebrated under the slogan "debt free in '43."

A bright future

Can that period of trial a century ago help the SBC navigate today's challenges? Absolutely, say Harsch and Wills. The first lesson is patience in hard economic times.

Total CP receipts for SBC causes have yet to reattain their highwater mark of nearly $206 million in 2007, before the economic downturn of 2008. But the mid-century CP recovery recalls "the lesson of patience," Wills said.

"The Cooperative Program was still effective in the 1920s and 1930s even as offerings were declining," he said. Southern Baptists "are not in this for the short term. We are in it for the long term for as long as our blessed Savior tarries."

Another lesson is to address problems head-on. The 1925 Baptist Faith and Message was an attempt to do just that, Harsch said. It offered a clear response to theological disputes amid the Modernist-Fundamentalist Controversy.

Perhaps the greatest challenge though is guarding against complacency and ceasing to marvel at CP. Even in lean years, per capita giving to missions increased in many instances, suggesting to Harsch that cooperative giving remains the way forward.

"I have traveled through many parts of the world, and I have talked with [believers] who are in awe of what we as Southern Baptists can do through the Cooperative Program: our overseas missionaries, our church planters at home, our theological education. We are able to engage in the ministries to which God has called us and not have to worry if two months down the road the economy has changed," Harsch said.

"When we work together, we can expand our ability to influence the world with the Gospel of Christ."

Southern Baptists Unite to Send 58 New IMB Missionaries During SBC Annual Meeting By Chris Doyle, IMB writer

DALLAS — Southern Baptists united to celebrate 58 newly appointed International Mission Board missionaries, during the June 10 opening session of the Southern Baptist Convention annual meeting in Dallas. Church messengers watched as missionaries took the stage to share their calling and thank those who are supporting their Great Commission task.

"It's so good to be with you today as we gather, together, to do many important things," IMB President Paul Chitwood said. "But perhaps none so important as this – to send 58 new IMB missionaries to pursue lostness around the world."

Missionaries, he said, are sent and supported, first and foremost, by their local churches, "but make no mistake – they are also sent by us, here in Dallas, Texas."

Chitwood continued, "This is a moment where we have the privilege to celebrate their going, commission them to join God in His mission, and commit to support them in every way."

To illustrate the vital importance of Southern Baptist support of missionaries, Chitwood shared three recent examples. The first was a young missionary mother whose cancer treatments in Houston begin this week. Her medical needs are covered by generous giving through the Cooperative Program and Lottie Moon Christmas Offering.

Just four days ago, a missionary family wrote with thankfulness for training that protected them when 12 men with machetes entered and robbed their home. Thankfully, they remained calm and felt the presence of the Holy Spirit. Southern Baptists provided that vital security and safety training for the missionaries and their five children.

Earlier this year, a volunteer group was jailed in a restricted access country and detained for two days. Through God's protection, the group was released and arrived home safely. Because of Southern Baptist support, the IMB has resources for a highly trained incident response team ready to move on behalf of missionaries and volunteers at a moment's notice.

"Southern Baptists, we're not just sending missionaries but preparing them to endure the difficulties they face on the field," Chitwood said.

The new appointees are joining more than 3,500 IMB missionaries and their families currently serving in 155 countries. Those heading to regions hostile to the Gospel or missionary presence appeared behind a screen for the public event to protect their identities. Four couples spoke in their first languages of Italian and Korean, while English translations ran on the screens. Missionaries were united in their gratefulness for the prayers and generosity of Southern Baptists.

Veteran Journeymen among newly appointed missionaries, mindful of church support

Among the 58 missionaries participating in the Sending Celebration, 11 were former Journeymen. The IMB recently recognized the 60th anniversary of the program, which has become a strategic pipeline for career missionary service. The program was created for young Southern Baptists between the ages of 21 and 29 to serve two-year missionary terms. More than 6,500 young adults have served in the Journeyman program in the past six decades.

Lauren Ulmer, Zack and Courtney Newsome and Bridget Davis were among the missionaries in Dallas who served as Journeymen before making long-term commitments to service overseas.

Ulmer knew she was called to missions after she went on a volunteer trip to Costa Rica with Southside Baptist Church in Live Oak, Florida, which is also her sending church. She wasn't sure where she would go until a semester position with IMB in Quebec opened for her in the winter of 2019.

The Florida native didn't have any winter clothing, but her Southside Baptist family came through for her.

"They rallied around me, gave me a winter coat and helped me raise funds for all the winter things that I would need," Ulmer said. "Two months later in January 2019, I'm showing up to Quebec, in the midst of the coldest months, ready to do university ministry and hospitality ministry."

After her short-term service, Ulmer returned to Quebec as a Journeyman, serving from 2019-21. She said these were challenging years, but she relied on the Lord, her ministry team in Quebec and the consistent support from Southside. In those hard days, Ulmer appreciated the emails and letters she received from Southside.

"Someone would send the verse I needed to read or a prayer voice message I needed to hear," she said. "My church inspired me and reminded me I wasn't serving alone."

Zack and Courtney Newsome served as a Journeymen couple before answering the call to long-term service. They served as Journeymen from 2017-19, and through the two-year term, they realized they were called to be full-time missionaries.

"As Journeymen, we were able to see a church planted and see this church grow and reach Muslims," Zack said. They look forward to serving with the IMB in Panama.

The Newsomes met while attending Murray State University and were influenced by Hardin Baptist Church in Hardin, Kentucky.

"It was in this church, under the leadership of my college pastor, Chris Lawrence, that I bore the most fruit," Zack said.

The Newsomes are also grateful for their sending church, NorthWoods Church in Evansville, Indiana, where Zack served as student pastor.

"NorthWoods gave us that encouragement of, 'Hey, we'll support you!'" Courtney said. "Serving internationally, it means so much to have the support of a church, knowing they love us."

Bridget Davis said the two years of her Journeyman experience went by faster than she thought it would go. "It sounds like a long time, but it's not," she said.

She served in Sub-Saharan Africa with IMB missionary Kathy Shafto who had a big influence on her life. "Kathy taught me about seeing opportunities to speak the truth of God's Word into the people's lives and how to be strong and gentle at the same time."

Bridget and her husband Jude will be serving in Germany with a missionary team with whom they have already made connections. Through their sending church, First Baptist Church of Rogers, Arkansas, the Davises took a short-term mission trip to Germany to serve with current IMB missionaries of whom FBC Rogers has a partner-ship.

"We are going there because we got to see what it was like as a family to live there and serve there," Bridget said. "I'm really thankful for the opportunities that our sending church has given us. They have been so supportive and have helped us work through our calling to missions."

Jude said he also appreciates the support of FBC Rogers, as well as the church he attended when he was in college, College Heights Baptist Church in Plainview, Texas.

He said College Heights "gave me a great foundation, encouraged my pursuit of doing mission work, which was the beginning of when I realized God was calling me. This church helped me realize that missions isn't just something you do; it's who you are."

Messengers participate in praying and sending

Heather Huggins, who will serve in South America with her husband Caleb, challenged churches with a spoken word presentation titled "Missionary Prayer."

"You make new; Only You; Holy You; God, thank You; Dark to light; Death to life; You, unchanged; Me, transformed. A multitude. Every. All. Me," Heather said, concluding the recited prayer.

Chitwood closed the celebration by urging continued commitment to send more missionaries to the nations. During a time of responsive reading, attendees voiced their commitment.

"We pray for you, that God would open doors to share the mystery of the Gospel with those who have never heard," said the nearly 10,000 church messengers in attendance. The Sending Celebration ended with a time of prayer, during which Chitwood invited messengers to gather around missionaries.

The next Sending Celebration will be Oct. 27, 2025, at the Southern Baptists of Texas Convention in Lubbock, Texas.

Testimony:

Ohio Pastors Experience "Southern" Hospitality in Louisville

By David Gray, pastor, First Baptist Church, Garrettsville

A group of 25 Ohio pastors, mostly African American, visited The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary (SBTS) and Boyce College in Louisville, Kentucky recently. Reggie Hayes, SCBO senior staff, coordinated the trip with the assistance of Jeremy Pelton, SBTS admissions coordinator.

As an outgoing member of The Southern Seminary Board of Trustees, I desired to help minority pastors from Ohio understand the value of a strong biblically-based college and seminary education that is provided by the seminaries of the Southern Baptist Convention.

The six seminaries of the SBC are some of the finest educational institutions in the country. The schools are also solidly Southern Baptist in their theology and orientation. Our visit to Southern was designed to remind pastors of the value of religious education in leading churches in Ohio and around the world.

SCBO is working to create a pipeline of pastors prepared to lead now and in the future. Our Executive Director, Dr. Jeremy Westbrook shares a desire to raise leaders that are sound theologically and understand the value of cooperation. Southern's staff rolled out the red carpet and made a credible case for the world-class education they provide.

The pastors were treated to interactive talks with the Provost and Senior Vice President for Academic Administration, Dr. Paul Akin; Victor and Louise Lester Professor of Christian Preaching and Dean of The School of Theology, Dr. Hershael W. York; and the President of The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Dr. R. Albert Mohler.

Dr. Akin encouraged the group when he shared his circuitous path to accepting his current assignment. Dr. York inspired the attendees as he explained his confidence in the staff and direction of Southern Seminary.

Dr. Mohler was frank and engaging while discussing the SBC history concerning race and how the path forward should look. We also enjoyed impressive presentations about the many offerings at the college and seminary.

The Ohio pastors, ranging in age from the twenties to the seventies, warmly received this impressive reminder of the opportunity of available Christian education for themselves and those in their churches.

A Burden for Bivocational Pastors

By Mark Jones, SCBO revitalization consultant

According to a June 4, 2025, LifeWay Research article, "National Survey of Religious Leaders (NSRL) report revealed 35% of all clergy in the U.S. serve bivocationally, holding an additional job outside of their congregational ministry.

Among evangelical Protestants, bivocational ministry is even more common. The study found almost half (47%) report having a second job. Around a third of Black Protestant pastors are bivocational (35%)."

Many times bivocational, trivocational, and covocational pastors feel alone or unnoticed. Most of my ministry life, I have been bivocational or trivocational and oftentimes I felt as though I was alone in the field, felt looked down upon, or felt overlooked by denominational encouragers.

The truth is I was not overlooked and many were actually praying for me. They just simply couldn't relate to working a secular job for 40-50 hours per week in addition to planting and pastoring a church. They didn't understand how to encourage or resource me. Sometimes I didn't know what would help me best.

First, I want every pastor to know that you are prayed for regardless of your vocational status. We at the SCBO notice you and the work you are doing.

Second, I also want to let you know that I am available for evening and weekend conversations at times to discuss your health and the health of your congregation.

Third, I want to simply ask those of you who work a secular/secondary role to provide for your family; how can we best pray for you? As a bivocational, trivocational, covocational, etc. pastor/planter, what are your greatest struggles? How can we best serve and come alongside you?

Oftentimes a congregation is only as healthy as their pastor. How healthy are you? I would love to connect with you about healthy habits as a bivocational pastor and help you lead your congregation to health.

Connect with me via email at mjones@scbo.org or via text at 330-806-3755. Let me know how we can pray for you and the best time/day we can connect.

From Dallas to the Streets of Circleville, Ohio

By Dr. John Heading, Ohio DR state director

The Southern Baptist Convention (SBC) in Dallas was a great time to share about the ministry of Southern Baptist Disaster Relief (SBDR) and get together with old friends. The SBDR display in the Exhibition Hall featured a new Quick Response Feeding unit from Arkansas DR that really drew a crowd.

During the SBC, I received a call from the Fayette County Emergency Manager. Circleville, Ohio suffered a flash flood and officials estimated that approximately 50 homes were affected. They needed our help.

The SBC was great, but it was time to take the message of the gospel through Ohio DR from Dallas to the streets of Circleville.

Ohio DR set up a response site at Circleville FBC. Pastor Billy Barbo didn't hesitate to allow the team to take over the church building so we could serve their community.

In the field training is a big part of learning to serve.

Ohio DR had six chaplains serving on the team in Circleville. Experienced chaplain Terry Smith, First Baptist Church, New Lebanon, led a chaplain team of five. The team had two new chaplains, Mary Lou Puperi and Debra Starcher, Central Baptist Mission Center, Akron. The chaplain team canvased the entire area where the recovery team was working.

The chaplain team handed out 54 tracts, had seven gospel conversations, and had two families interested in attending church. There was also one profession of faith.

I led a small team of chaplains who visited the home of Neal and Shirley. Neal has had cancer issues for the last 30 years. Now he's 85 years old and on dialysis three days a week. Shirley is 90 years old and doing her best to take care of Neal. Their family hired a company to do their flood remediation but that's not really why our team was there. We were there to take care of an unmet need. God placed the team at Neal and Shirley's house to minister to an elderly couple who just needed someone to listen to them and pray for them.

Everyone who serves during a deployment is vital to the mission. The feeding team, shower team and Incident Management Team, who generally stay at the church, are just as important as the chaplains and recovery teams who deploy into the communities.

On this deployment, all of our teams were part of Amy giving her life to Christ.

Her family suffered the most destruction from the flood. Their entire house had to be gutted. It would be a devastating time for anyone in their situation.

Amy shared some of her life story with Chaplain Terry as the team tore out everything that was water-damaged in her home.

You might think Amy would be focused on her belongings and the tear-out, but she was focused on other needs. At that moment, she knew she needed Jesus Christ more than she needed new drywall.

Amy trusted Christ and is eager to attend church. The prayer now is for her husband who is not a believer – yet.

Registration Open for Young Adult 1825 Conference at Lifepoint

By Stephanie Heading, managing editor

Young adults, ages 18-25, mark your calendars now for the 1825 Conference on October 17-18, at Lifepoint Church, Lewis Center.

Sponsored by 1825, the college and young adult ministry at Lifepoint, the Friday night, all-day Saturday conference features the theme "Press" based on Philippians 3:13-14.

"Philippians 3 hits three different times of our lives; past, present, and future. We will press rewind to look at our pasts and forget what lies behind," said Braden Rodriguez, 1825 pastor, Lifepoint Delaware.

"We will press play in our present walk with Jesus pressing on for the goal of the call. In our final sessions, we will press fast forward to see how we should strain forward to what lies ahead."

The 1825 Conference also includes worship with the Lifepoint Collective, as well as multiple opportunities to connect with home and international mission organizations, nonprofit services groups, and national church partners to get plugged into mission opportunities.

In addition, there will be free books, and a t-shirt with your registration, while supplies last. All food will be provided and a coffee truck will be on site.

This is the third year for the 1825 Conference and Lifepoint is excited to welcome young adults from across Ohio to attend.

Any size church is welcome to bring their young adults, ages 18-25.

"Come be a part of what we're doing," said Kyle Connell, pastor of missions and 1825, Lifepoint, Lewis Center. "We're already resourcing it, so there's no cost to other churches. We would love to say, "Hey! Just come and enjoy the day with us."

Registration for the 1825 Conference is $65 per person until August 11. On August 12, the price goes up to $70 until October 16. The price at the door is $80.
