LIFE

People helping people live out the unexpected love of Jesus every day.

One of our core values as a church is AUTHENTIC FAMILY: We have fun and encourage each other through life's ups and downs. By definition, this means that we have to be in relationship with each other in order to fulfill this value. Remember that this value is both informational (it describes an important characteristic of our current DNA) and aspirational (it describes something that we want to become or be known for). One of the greatest struggles that we have is that we don't have a very good space for the church to gather outside of the sanctuary. Since that's our reality, we have to be intentional and diligent if we are going to develop relationships with people in the church family who we don't already know.

This is the fourth article for the LIFE that covers our Outcomes and Outcome Expressions, as part of our Vision Framing plan (you can find the other articles attached to the Family Worship service recordings on the website from May 25, June 29, and July 27 of this year). Our third Outcome question asks, "How am I growing Christian friends who are growing me?" The Christian faith was not made to be lived on our own—we are saved into a community which should be a glimpse or a taste of heaven on Earth. We belong to one another, and we should have equal concern for one another (see 1 Cor 12:12-27). We need each other! This is what this Outcome is all about.

Our five Outcome expression statements that go with this third Outcome question are:

- I don't try to create the impression that I'm doing better than I really am.
- I consistently share with a smaller group specifics on what I'm learning as we seek to follow Jesus together.
- I meet for accountability with at least one godly person who knows what I'm currently struggling with and helps me apply biblical solutions.
- I can describe how I'm helping others feel known, seen, and part of the Eastern Hills family.
- I have experienced God's healing in my story and am compassionately walking alongside others in their pain and hardship.

What is one area that you can engage in deepening your relationships in the church family this week?

Blessings, Bill
