TO CONTINUE OR PROCEED ALONG A PATH OR ROUTE

Even with the best of goals in mind, it's easy to lose track along our path. We get sidetracked, discouraged, and distracted. Sometimes we just get worn out.

But there's a path that is worth following. The more you follow it, the more it sustains you along the way. The more you submit to it, the more it makes sense. And when you see it, you'll never want to turn back.

This weekend we are going to see the ways that God has pursued us. He has chased us down to find us, stuck in the mud and muck of our own lives. But even though He knew that's how He'd find us, He pursued us anyways.

How could we do anything but pursue Him back?
