

MISSION UPDATE

Families in the Field

Cizdziel

Jason, Laken and the kids are working on the details that will allow the whole family to travel again. The plan is to head back to PNG in January 2024.

Senter

Hudson and Gabbie and the kids have settled back into PNG life. Hudson is working on the logistical side of the Ethnos 360 Aviation ministry

Jerdan

Ozgur is working hard getting the new recording studio for GIT (Gospel in Turkey) up and running. They are working with the church to produce Christian media in the Turkic language for distribution around the region.

SCPS Holiday Outreach

We have partnered with Stafford High School, Drew Middle School, Conway Elementary School, Dixon-Smith Middle School, Falmouth Elementary and Heather Empfield Day School to help provide some relief to local families that could use a little extra care during the holiday season.

Together, we have provided Thanksgiving meals, Christmas meals and some Christmas gifts for over fifty families associated with our local schools.

Thank you for your generosity.

Beauty For Ashes Women and Children's Home

Stafford Crossing partners with Beauty For Ashes to help care for some wonderful young moms and their kids during the Christmas Season. We provide ingredients for their holiday meals and the ladies cook their favorite dish so they can gather around the table and celebrate together. We also help with some gifts for both moms and kids.

On December 2, we sent a team to move a mountain! It was a mountain of leaves to be fair, but the team showed up early with rakes and blowers and cleared the property so BFA could focus on hosting their open house.

Families in the Field (Cont'd)

Palmer

Rohn and Joell have settled into PNG life and were ready to welcome Hudson and Gabby and the grand babies back to the base.

Young

The Young's are back in Turkey where they have welcomed some new team mates and said goodbye to some others. Turkey has gone through some political turmoil. It has become more difficult for missionaries to maintain permission to stay in country.

Henry

The Henrys have been working on securing the land and buildings in Progressive Missions' name. These are legal requirements that are overdue and they are putting in a lot of hours meeting with government officials to keep things on the level.

Gospel In Turkey

The Jerdan family, along with their three kids—Umut (6), Zafer (5), and Seher (2)—has been serving in Turkey since 2014. They lead a media ministry dedicated to sharing the Good News of Jesus, with a particular focus on regions lacking a church presence. The demand for Bibles is increasing, especially in areas without local churches. The family produces media content addressing frequently asked questions about Christianity and teachings of Christ. Additionally, they actively participate in a Bible Correspondence Course ministry, reaching out to individuals exploring the Bible for the first time. Allison contributes to the Women's Ministry and the Children's Ministry, while Ozgur takes on preaching responsibilities regularly. Their holistic approach aims to engage and minister to various aspects of the community in Turkey.
