

T-Shirt Vendor Information

The vendors listed on this page are partners we've worked with regularly and trust. We've chosen them because of their proximity, flexibility, fair pricing, or their willingness to work with us. They're familiar with First McKinney and have been great collaborators over time. These vendors are provided as a helpful starting point, not a requirement. You're welcome to work with other vendors based on your budget or specific needs. If you do choose one of the vendors listed here, we recommend letting them know you're a First McKinney ministry so you can benefit from the relationship that's already been established.

Quick Tips for Ordering T-Shirts

- Order early when possible. Rush orders often limit shirt options and increase costs.
- Confirm quantities and sizes up front. Collect sizes before ordering to avoid reorders or exchanges. Ask about minimums and pricing breaks. Many vendors offer lower per-shirt pricing at higher quantities.
- *Consider screen sizing. If you're ordering both youth and adult sizes, your order will likely require two screens—one sized proportionally for youth shirts and one for adult shirts. This can affect pricing and timelines.
- ALWAYS ask for a proof. Always review and approve a digital mockup before production begins.
- Double-check colors. Shirt color, ink color, and logo colors can look different on screen than in print.
- Be mindful of layered colors. Designs with multiple ink colors layered on top of each other may experience ink bleed, which can slightly change the final color appearance. Multiple colors also require more screens for printing and will increase the cost.
- Use these resources when selecting shirts: Most vendors will order shirts from these sites. Having your shirt selected with the correct color, style and blend will make your ordering process more efficient and accurate.
