Servant Leadership

A course that delves into some of the fundamental factors involved as a Servant Leader. Leadership roles are reviewed, leadership challenges are also investigated. The student is expected to try and identify leadership strategies and leadership opportunities in the progress of this course. An important core of this course is reviewing the difference between leadership in the world and in the church. Jesus and the apostles promoted the concept of “Servant Leadership” a unique approach to leadership in the Kingdom of God. The course also provides a panorama of leadership examples from the Old and New Testaments.

New Creation Realities

This course relies predominantly on the Apostolic epistles of the New Testament. A special highlight is placed on Paul’s Revelations. He reveals the resurrection benefits behind the essentialities of the New Creation Life. The Epistles, not the gospels, provide the most important factors governing the life of the New Believer, the truths that guide their daily living in victory, and the revelations that emphasize the Christ-like life in practice.

Biblical Interpretation

The fundamental keys to Biblical Interpretation are studied and each student is acquainted with how to discern scriptures in order to gain a greater understanding of God’s Holy Word. The Bible is reviewed by Books, topics, personalities, testaments and dispensations etc. Further areas of concentration will involve showing the student examples of how scriptures must be interpreted within context and with respect to each covenant principles. Rules of Biblical Interpretation are emphasized in this study.

Life of Faith and Prayer

Faith and Prayer are two of the most essential ingredients of Christianity in action. This course provides the basic principles of Faith and of Prayer, the essential duty of the minister forging a lifestyle reminiscent of Christ’s example, and promoting growth in knowledge and practice. The success of both guarantees rich rewards and benefits to the kingdom of God.

Spirit Lab

As Spirit filled Christians, we are all ordained of God to operate in the gifts of The Spirit as outlined in 1 Corinthians Ch. 12. This class is designed to help the student discover which gift (or gifts) are present in their ministry, and how to operate in those gifts proficiently. It is an opportunity to participate in and contribute to the corporate anointing under the guidance of experienced, Spirit filled instructors.

Fruit of the Spirit

This course is a study on the 9 fruit of the Spirit listed in Galatians 5:22-23. This course is designed to exhort and empower students to grow in spiritual maturity by producing the nature and character of Christ. This study will examine the attributes of each fruit and how it is manifested in everyday life.

Gifts of the Spirit

This course is an in depth study of the 9 gifts of the Spirit. Students will study the nature, purpose and operation of the gifts of the Spirit given to believers by the Holy Spirit. This course will help students understand how these gifts function within the Body of Christ and how to use them for the edification of the Church and the advancement of God's Kingdom.

Offices and Administrations

A comprehensive look at the offices in the body of Christ, and the ministry gifts as outlined in scripture. This course is designed to help the believer identify and confidently pursue their calling here on Earth as ordained by God.

Old Testament Christology

The study of Christ as revealed through types and shadows in the Old Testament books of law and history. Special attention is paid to the tabernacle, the furniture within, the sacrifices, and the priesthood as prescribed by God for the children of Israel as they were transformed into the nation of Israel in the wilderness.

Confession of the Word

This transformative course explores the biblical foundation, power and practice of confessing God's Word. Students will learn how confession develops the human spirit to be able to release faith and authority to appropriate God's promises. The spiritual law of faith will be examined in light of the renewing of the mind as well.

Submission and Authority

This course explains the laws of delegated authority and how that authority is derived from submission. Humanity has delegated authorities that proceed from God (original authority). The submission of David to King Saul and the submission of the Lord Jesus to God the father is reviewed. Other scriptural examples are also included in order to cover the principles of how to exercise natural and spiritual authority.

Apologetics

The study of how to reasonably and systematically express the truth of the Christian Faith, with the goal of attracting others to the Gospel. The student will learn how to communicate their faith in Christ, and to effectively answer objections to scripture and the Gospel message.

Angelology

The study of angels and their role in the Kingdom of Heaven. The different types of angels will be discussed as well as how we as believers are delegated the authority to commission angels here on Earth in order to carry out the plan of God outlined in His word.

Supportive Ministries

Supportive Ministry is a course that delves into all the “helps” ministry arms of a church. Every ministry initiative that provides working aid, assistance, and improvement to the regular functioning process of the main ministry efforts of a church are reviewed and studied. It takes a lot to foster the ministering aspects of church services and community functions. Supportive Ministries takes the lead in both amassing the manpower needed as well all the technical and technological inputs.

Pauline Revelation

The Apostle Paul has a predominant role in the New Testament. Not only did he pen the largest number of Epistles than the other Apostles, but is credited to contribute to the New Testament in the most profound way as well. Paul’s Revelation is a study of Paul’s writings. They were revealed to him by the Lord Jesus Christ, and instructed to document the relevance of their teachings to the faith and practice of the New Testament Believer. Paul’s Revelation exemplifies their core place in the New Testament for providing the most profound understanding of the Redemptive Realities of the death, resurrection, ascension and soon coming return of the Lord Jesus Christ.

Demonology

The study of demons and fallen angels and the differences between the two. It is a comprehensive look at the origin of demons and fallen angels, their fall, and their future in hell. You will also look at the tactics used by the kingdom of darkness against the believer in order to be better prepared to stand in the power of God against those tactics.

Eschatology

A study of the Biblical doctrines dealing with death, the resurrection, eternal judgment, and immortality. It explores what the bible teaches concerning man’s triune being and what state is attained during the process of death. The three kinds of death: spiritual, physical and the second death are explored and the experiences studied. A review of scriptures on the judgments of God, and of man’s similitude to his divinity is also included.

2nd Year Course Descriptions

Synoptic Gospels

The synoptic gospels (Matthew, Mark and Luke) are the three most historically designed gospels than that of John. The word synoptic means to “see alike”. The student will study how they are similar but yet present the ministry work and life of the Lord Jesus Christ in a unique way.

Penteteuch

A study of the books of Moses (the Torah), as to their role in illustrating God’s redemptive plan, and pointing toward the coming ministry of Christ. This course will outline the origination, election, redemption, sanctification, direction, and instruction of the Nation of Israel.

Gospel of John

A study of the Gospel of John, the only gospel that does not belong in the group of synoptic gospels. This study reviews the gospel of John which was written much later than the other three gospels and is traditionally known as the Gospel that informs the Believer best in faith and practice.

Acts

This course is a study on the Book of Acts, exploring the birth, growth and mission of the early church following the resurrection and ascension of Jesus Christ. Students will study key themes such as the work of the Holy Spirit, the expansion of the Gospel to the gentile nations, and persecution of the Church.

Romans

The book of Romans is a unique book among the epistles of Paul. According to traditional history and in reference to some evidences in the book itself, Romans was written to the church in Rome ever before Paul visited Rome. This is not the case with his other epistles which were written as follow-ups to his initial visits. Romans also documents a predominant aspect of Christian doctrine and dogma than any of his other epistles. The study of the book of Romans will cover the origins of this book, its relevance, and substantive evaluation of its texts as it relates to Christian faith and practice.

Wisdom Literature

The study of the books of wisdom includes the understanding of style, format, and the inspiration of the poetic and symbolical books. Their place in the order of worship in the life of the Israelites, the value of prophetic and messianic predictions and exhortations are examined in a broad way. The books reviewed are Job, Psalms, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, and Songs of Solomon. These books also have an important place in adding to the richness and walk of the Christian life in worship and in faith.

Galatians

A study of the book of the Apostle Paul to the Galatians. It is a vital epistle in the New Testament documenting the teachings of Paul to the gentile churches that he had established. This book reveals some of Paul’s revelation of Jesus Christ and his requirements for New Testament living. All relevant themes of the book are explored and how it integrates into Paul’s other writings may also be included.

Ephesians

A study of the book of the Apostle Paul to the Ephesians. It is a vital epistle in the New Testament documenting the teachings of Paul to the gentile churches that he had established. This book reveals some of Paul's revelation of Jesus Christ and his requirements for New Testament living. All relevant themes of the book is explored and how it integrates into Paul's other writings may also be included.

Old Testament Prophets

The central figures of the Old Testament are the Prophets. They were the only preachers that spoke by divine inspiration. They were also called Shepherds. Their lives, their call, their ministry, their faith and their role in leading Israel, managing Israel's transition from theocracy to a monarchy, and helping them navigate their exile back to freedom is implicative to our relationship with God. This study reviews all of these aspects and analyzes this first group of God's ministers and their role as precursors to the five-fold ministries today.

Pastoral Epistles

This is a study of the letters written by the Apostle Paul to his co-laborers in the faith, Timothy & Titus. Students will explore the qualifications for church leadership, the role of scripture, defense of sound doctrine, and principles for godly living within the community of the church.

Philippians

Hebrews

Hebrews is the only epistle written by an apostle that specifically addresses the Hebrews Christians in more detail than any of the other epistles. It was written to console Christians who had adopted the Christian faith after leaving Judaism. This book also elaborates the Jewish roots of Jesus Christ, the value of his priesthood, his sacrifice, his kingdom and the evolution of his church as the final congregant of God's people.

Colossians

A study of the book of the Apostle Paul to the Colossians. It is a vital epistle in the New Testament documenting the teachings of Paul to the gentile churches that he had established. This book reveals some of Paul's revelation of Jesus Christ and his requirements for New Testament living. All relevant themes of the book is explored and how it integrates into Paul's other writings may also be included.

Johannine Epistles

This course studies in essential details the three books of the Epistles of John the Apostle of the Lord. These timely epistles exemplify some of the most simplistic, practical, and reverberating instructions to a church that had attained some growth. The aging apostles reflects of true Christianity, reminds the church of the testimony of Jesus Christ, and in a fatherly manner spur the church towards the Love Walk, unity and harmony of the church and the exemplarity of morality in Christian behavior. The epistles of John are so essential to the New Testament church.

General Epistles

This is a course that unifies the General Epistles of the New Testament in a unique way by studying their themes, their chronologies, and their characteristic designs. The student will learn value for these epistles, their contributions to the New Testament and the church and relates one to the other to help the student gain an amazing appreciation of the epistles of the New Testament that were not of the Pauline origin.
