

Table Dialogue for August 6th, 2023

GROUND RULES

1. Consider 1st, every person has their own story and experiences, and is deserving of dignity.
2. Dialogue is an opportunity to listen & learn, not convince.
3. Ask questions to clarify; don't simply make statements.
4. Stick w/"I think...", "My opinion is...", giving space for a variety of opinions.
5. Give others a chance to speak & finish their thoughts.

Questions

1. What is a memory of play that stands out to you from your childhood? More recently?
2. What holds you back from playing? What fears do you have related to the vulnerability of play?
3. What does it mean to you to be childlike? How could you be more childlike in your day to day?
4. How do you "play" as an adult?
