My House

During this weeks sermon in the “My House” sermon series, Pastor Warren called the church to reclaim spiritual leadership within our homes. Drawing from Joshua’s bold declaration and Nehemiah’s steadfast rebuilding, we’re reminded that faith doesn’t begin in the pulpit — it begins around our dinner tables.

God calls parents, grandparents, and spiritual mentors to set the tone for worship, service, and moral courage. The world’s culture is loud, but the Christian home can be a sanctuary of truth and grace. Leadership is not about control; it’s about modeling devotion, forgiveness, and prayer.

When we lead our households to serve the Lord, we help rebuild the walls of faith that protect and guide our families for generations.
