Madison College (General Education) Courses
English 1- 3 credits
The first course in communication skills at the college level, developing student abilities in critical reading, writing, listening, and speaking, for both exposition and argumentation. The course emphasizes summarizing, analyzing, and synthesizing information from sources and develops research and presentation skills. The class assumes competence in English grammar and paragraph structure.
English 2 - 3 credits
This course is a continuation of English 1. Students will use advanced research skills to write papers from across the curriculum. Research papers will be informative and persuasive in nature and will be based on topics from academic disciplines (social sciences, literature, and the humanities, or science and mathematics). Students will conduct research using primary and secondary library resources, surveys and questionnaires, observation, and interviews and will use the MLA format and one other format (APA, Chicago) to document their sources. Students will be asked to prepare 25-35 pages of polished writing.
Introduction to Sociology - 3 credits
Introduces students to the field of Sociology. Defines and examines the concepts and realities of social structure, culture, socialization, complex organizations, class, inequality, social groups, and social change. Special emphasis is given to institutions such as the family, religion, education, politics, economics, and the media.
College Math - 3 Credits
A basic introduction to the concepts and theory of elementary mathematics. Topics include arithmetic, algebra, trigonometry, problem-solving, set theory, numeration systems, whole numbers, rational and irrational numbers, and consumer mathematics.

Christian Life College IN-PERSON Courses

In-person classes offered at Christian Life College, Madison, run during a 16-week semester, both in the Fall and Spring. Students meet weekly at Abundant Life Christian School (ALCS), room 202, 4901 E. Buckeye Rd., Madison. ALCS is located across the parking lot from City Church.

Old Testament Survey- 3 Credits

The Old Testament serves as the beginning of the revelation of God's heart for humanity. For some, the Old Testament can be a daunting challenge. Yet, the revelation of God in the Old Testament makes our New Testament faith fuller and richer. The Old Testament offers an exciting discovery of the character and ways of God. From the beginning of the world in the opening chapters of Genesis through to the last prophecies of Malachi, God was clearly at work in humankind, preparing the world for the revelation of His Son, Jesus Christ. We have the privilege of hearing God's revelations of himself through all of this history and the challenge of applying it to our world today.

New Testament Survey - 3 Credits

Since our world is so different from that of the first century, it is important to understand the context and content of the New Testament to be faithful followers of Jesus. This class addresses questions that readers of the Bible may have, such as: How can we tell if what is written in the New Testament is true history or just mythology? When were these books written and why? And, what can today's believers get out of letters addressed to people who lived two millennia ago? This survey is enjoyable to anyone who wants to better understand the New Testament.

Systematic Theology I - 3 Credits

Systematic Theology I is a study of the foundations of Christian, Evangelical theology. With particular emphasis on understanding the teaching of Scripture as a whole and in its unity, this course will focus on the doctrines of Scripture, God, man, and the person of Christ. Special emphasis will be given to the practical application of these doctrines to gospel ministry in contemporary culture. The course will also provide an occasion for students to think deeply on these theological truths, especially of how they relate to their understanding of God and His creation.

Systematic Theology II - 3 Credits

Systematic Theology II is a study of the foundations of Christian, Evangelical theology. With particular emphasis on understanding the teaching of Scripture as a whole and in its unity, this course will focus on the doctrines of Salvation, Church, and End Times. Special emphasis will be given to the practical application of these doctrines to gospel ministry in contemporary culture. The course will also provide an occasion for students to think deeply on these theological truths, especially of how they relate to their understanding of God and His creation.

Life and Letters of Paul - 3 Credits

A study of the life of Paul as it is traced through the New Testament writings. Students will examine his conversion experience and subsequent ministry with an emphasis on his mission to the Gentile world. Key biblical themes will be addressed in this course.

The Torah Story - 3 Credits

A comprehensive study of the first five books of the Bible. The early history of man is studied with emphasis on the creation, the flood, the patriarchs, the exodus, the law, the tabernacle, and history.

Jesus: His Words and Works - 3 Credits

A study of the nature, origin, religion, and cultural background of the four Gospels. Emphasis will be given to each narrative and its contribution to the understanding of Jesus. A detailed examination of what the Gospels teach about Jesus' ministry, message, death, and resurrection.

Old Testament Historical Books - 3 Credits

The study of the Old Testament from Joshua to Esther deals with the nation of Israel in its rise, disruption, fall, captivity, and restoration. Special emphasis is given to the background for the further study of the prophets.

Pre-Reformation Church History- 3 Credits

Pre-Reformation Church History will introduce students to the thought and life of the Christian church from Pentecost to the dawn of the Protestant Reformation. Special emphasis will be placed on the development of doctrinal, institutional, and ethical patterns including the tracing of core theological issues within the various traditions of the church. Pre-Reformation Church History will provide students with a fascinating and panoramic view of the dramatic events, colorful characters, and revolutionary ideas that shaped the first fifteen centuries of the church.

Post-Reformation Church History- 3 Credits

Post-Reformation Church History will introduce students to the thought and life of the Christian church from the Reformation to the dawn of the modern day. Special emphasis will be placed on the development of doctrinal, institutional, and ethical patterns including the tracing of core theological issues within the various traditions of the church. Post Reformation Church History will provide students with a fascinating and panoramic view of the dramatic events, colorful characters, and revolutionary ideas that shaped the past fifteen centuries of the church.

Field Education (Internship) - 3 Credits

An internship with your local church. The student will experience a variety of responsibilities in an approved local church (either the student's home church or one selected by the Lead Instructor) under the leadership of the Pastor and/or staff member.

Independent/Hybrid Study Courses

Independent study courses are self-paced courses where the students listen to pre-recorded lectures, read books, do assignments, and study for exams. Some of these courses will be a hybrid format, where we meet for several times in person, but the majority of the assignments are done independently. Most of these courses are typically held in the summer months and are overseen by the Lead Instructor.

Introduction to Academic Writing - 1 credit

This course is designed to reinforce essay composition skills and introduce students to the practice of writing for academic purposes. It will prepare students for courses that require research writing. It introduces basic research writing skills, including conducting research, note-taking, paraphrasing, summarizing, direct quotation, and MLA style citation. This course should be done within the first three classes taken.

Apologetics - 3 Credits

Apologetics is making a case for why Christianity is objectively true. We will discuss the reasonableness of the Christian worldview, drawing on arguments and evidence for this purpose. We will offer a positive case for Christian claims and examine objections against it. The goal is to show that Christian faith is not a blind faith, but one firmly grounded in reason, evidence, and a bit of mystery, which makes faith not only interesting but a necessary component.

Introduction to Hermeneutics - 3 credits

The act of interpretation (hermeneutics) is as common as communication itself. Whenever someone speaks, a listener interprets what that speaker means. In the same way, everyone who reads the Bible interprets what it means. This course will help students understand the various parameters of biblical interpretation and how specific methods are applied to Bible study. Emphasis will be placed on understanding the original, intended meaning of scripture in its canonical context as the basis upon which to prepare expositions and make appropriate contemporary applications. Take this course within the first 5 classes taken.

Christian Ethics - 3 credits
This course aims to provide instruction in the basic principles of Christian Ethics and their application to the Christian life. The first part of the course will be concerned with general ethical concepts and issues. The second part will be concerned with the sources of Christian ethics and the distinctive character of those ethics. Attention will also be paid to degenerate forms of Christian ethics, the relation between conversion and grace to Christian ethics, and the application of ethical principles to particular situations.
Spiritual Formation - 3 credits
This course has been designed to provide a biblical, theological, and experiential foundation for the process of being conformed to the image of Christ. It will explore the meaning of biblical Christianity and its relation to faith and practice, giving special attention to spiritual formation through prayer, devotional reading, contemplation, and other spiritual disciplines. The lectures will help the student form a paradigm for spiritual growth and maturity that will affect both the individual and those to whom they minister.
Introduction to Christian Sociology - 3 credits (Alternative to Intro to Sociology)
This course provides an overview of the major works of social thought from the beginning of the modern era through the 1920s. Attention is paid to social and intellectual contexts, conceptual frameworks and methods, and contributions to contemporary social analysis. Special attention is given to the interaction of modern sociology and the Christian faith, to the effects of technology on Christian spirituality and social interaction, to the significant anthropological themes for a meaningful cross-cultural witness and to the dynamics of diversity in class, age, race and gender within the church.
Foundations of Western Civilization - 3 credits
Students will discover the essential nature, evolution, and perceptions of Western civilization from its humble beginnings to the dawn of the modern world. With these "Great Courses" lectures, you will learn about the people, places, ideas, and events that make up Western Civilization, award-winning scholar and teacher Thomas F. X. Noble of the University of Notre Dame invites the student to explore the vast and rich territory of Western civilization.
Ministry and Leadership Admin - 3 credits
The purpose of this course is to provide students with a broad overview of the theory and practice of administration in the local church by exploring the biblical concepts of leadership and administration. Additional topics to be addressed include goal setting, team building, delegation, human relationships, budgeting, working with committees and teams, legal issues, personnel management, church operations, and the management of leaders. Though the principles are universal, the focus of the course is on the church/ministry organization.
Introduction to Christian Leadership - 3 Credits
This course is designed to move students into deeper levels of understanding regarding the significant concepts and theories that shape our contemporary understanding of leadership development and function in a Christian context. From this primary context, students will be guided into discoveries of personal individual styles, strengths, and opportunities for growth to enhance personal leadership competencies. This course will also have a deliberate focus on the development of personal character, the deeper life in Christ, and Christ-like servant leadership.
Mission, Evangelism, and Discipleship - 3 Credits
This course is a study of the methods of evangelism and the structures of discipleship with special emphasis on the caring and maturing of the newly evangelized. By integrating biblical theology, careful analysis of contemporary cultures, and reflective practice, this course provides resources for evangelizing and discipling post-moderns in the Christian faith.

Certificate in Biblical Studies (option instead of an AA degree)

A Certificate in Christian Studies is an option for those who wish to expand both their knowledge of the Bible and their effectiveness as disciples of Jesus Christ, but without taking the general education requirements for the Associate's degree. Students still take classes for credit, earning a total of 30 credits (a total of 10, 3-unit courses), and then these credits can later be applied to an AA or BA degree, if that is beneficial to your academic goals.

Independent study courses may NOT be substituted for certain in-person, core classes:

- 1) Old Testament Survey
- 2) New Testament Survey
- 3) Life and Teachings of Jesus
- 4) Systematic Theology (one of the two courses)
- 5) Church History
- 6) Old Testament extra courses (one of the two offered)

Accreditation

Christian Life College, Madison, is an off-site study center that is fully accredited through AICCS (the Association of Independent Christian Colleges and Seminaries). AICCS is one of the largest non-governmental academic associations in the world. Since it is not affiliated with the U.S. Department of Education, this ensures biblical norms and standards will be maintained. It's important to note that government-recognized accreditation is not necessary for religious vocations. If you are studying for something other than ministry, check with the school you will study at, as it may belong to a different accrediting association.

Our main campus, Christian Life College, Mount Prospect, Illinois, was founded over 70 years ago as Chicago Bible College. In 1977, the college moved to the Northwest Suburbs of Chicago, eventually finding its permanent campus in Mount Prospect with Christian Life Church in 1981. It was at this time that Chicago Bible College changed its name to Christian Life College.

In 1987, CLC was approved by the State of Illinois Board of Higher Education to grant Associate of Arts & Bachelor of Arts degrees. The degrees that have been approved to be offered since then are:

- | | |
|--|--|
| • Associate of Arts in Christian Education | CIP Code 39.0401 |
| • Associate of Arts in Music | CIP Code 39.0501 |
| • Associate of Arts Christian Studies | CIP Code 38.0201 (offered at our Madison-branch) |
| • Bachelor of Arts degree | CIP Code 39.0601 (Pastoral Ministry/Theology) |

- If students plan to pursue an education beyond the Associate level or Bachelor's level, CLC has articulation agreements with many Christian colleges and universities that accept its credits.
- CLC-Mt. Prospect was accredited through TRACS (Transnational of Christian Colleges and Schools, recognized by the US Department of Education), but decided not to renew its accreditation for a variety of reasons, primarily financial. CLC has a good reputation and maintains its high academic standards with a quality staff taught by a faculty with advanced degrees in theology.
