THE LORD'S PRAYER
COLOSSIANS 3:9-14

Forgive as We Forgive

Colossians 3:9-14 comes from Paul's letter to the church at Colossae, written while he was imprisoned. This passage follows Paul's instructions about setting minds on heavenly things and represents a practical guide for Christian transformation. Paul's reason believers should not lie to one another is found in the issue of identity. Those who put a trusting faith in Christ are new people who have died to sin and have become alive in Christ. The text contrasts the "old self" with its sinful practices against the "new self" that is being renewed in God's image. God has given us a new life in Christ Jesus. Our daily practice as believers must conform to our new position in Christ.

Colossians 3 – Put Off, Put On

Paul is clearly alluding to Genesis 1:27, where it is said that God created Adam in His own image. Nevertheless, now that the first Adam is regarded as the old man who should be put off and discarded, because now we are created after the image of the second Adam, Jesus Christ.

Celebrating Friendship Day

This Sunday, we pause to celebrate one of life's greatest gifts: friendship.

Think about those special people who know your coffee order by heart, who remember the small details that matter to you, and who show up—whether it's for your biggest victories or your hardest days. These are the friends who make life richer simply by being part of it.

True friends are the ones who celebrate with genuine joy when something wonderful happens to you. They're also the ones brave enough to lovingly speak truth when you need to hear it, even when it's not easy. They see you—really see you—and choose to love you anyway.

In our busy world, friendships like these are treasures worth protecting and nurturing. They remind us that we're not meant to walk through life alone.

So this Friendship Day, maybe reach out to that friend you've been thinking about. Send the text, make the call, or simply whisper a prayer of gratitude for the people who make your world brighter.

"A sweet friendship refreshes the soul." ~ Proverbs 27:9

Who refreshes your soul? Take a moment to let them know.

Walking Through Grief Together

Loss has a way of making us feel incredibly alone, even when we're surrounded by people who care. The weight of missing someone can feel too heavy to carry by yourself—and the truth is, you don't have to.

Our GriefShare Support Group gathers every Wednesday at 12:30 PM in the Conference Room, creating a safe space where your heart can find understanding. Here, there's no timeline for healing, no pressure to "move on," and no judgment for wherever you are in your journey.

Whether your loss is recent or you're still navigating grief that feels endless, you'll find others who truly get it. Together, we're learning that healing doesn't mean forgetting—it means finding ways to honor our loved ones while discovering hope for the days ahead.

Your story matters. Your grief matters. And you don't have to face it alone.

If you're wondering whether this group might be right for you, we'd love to welcome you with open arms. Come as you are, when you're ready.
